Council slates special meeting Monday night

A special session of Washington C.H. City Council has been called for Monday night.

Council will convene in the city office building at 7:30 p.m. to discuss several matters related to budgeting and city administrative operations.

City Manager George Shapter said the meeting is primarily a work session, and no legislation is expected to be introduced.

As a public session, however, motions needed to implement some of the operating procedures could be considered, he added.

To be discussed are methods of billing for sewers, collection of the income tax, taxicab service in the city, and the city's traffic light replacement program.

Anticrime bills progress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State lawmakers advanced bills aimed at arsonists and other criminals before adjourning Thursday until early next week.

They left in doubt, however, the fate of another measure designed to eliminate Ohio's bed sheet primary ballots. The House refused to concur in Senate amendments, leaving unanswered a question of whether voters will have to mark cumbersome paper ballots in the June 8 primary instead of being able to use machines.

House sponsors said they will move to have the elections held reconsidered next Tuesday. It must be enacted by April 9 in order for the secretary of state to prescribe the form of ballots for the upcoming presidential primary.

The Senate voted without dissent to extend immunity from lawsuits to insurance companies which cooperate with public officials on arson investigations.

Sponsors of the enabling bill, which went to the House, say under present law, companies are reluctant to turn over results of their investigations for fear that if they lost their own suits to recover damages, they could be countersued.

Under the measure by Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, they would be immune from such countersuits unless a determination were made that they had acted "with malice or in bad faith," Butts told the Senate.

His bill has broad support from fire chiefs in most of Ohio's big cities, including Cincinnati where damages from incendiary type fires shot up to $2.6 million last year, compared with only $600,000 the year before. Butts said more than half (56.4 per cent) of the fires last year in Toledo were attributed to arson or incendiary causes.

The House, meanwhile, resurrected and approved a previously sidetracked bill that sets six months imprisonment and a $7,500 fine for throwing a hard object or firing a gun at a motor vehicle, boat, plane, train, or other vehicle.

The bill resulted from the death of a Bucyrus girl 15 months ago. She was fatally injured when a 20-pound chunk of asphalt was thrown from an overpass on the Ohio Turnpike and hit her car.

The House approved the bill in early January, but called it back for reconsideration to correct technical difficulties. The measure by Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, now goes to the Senate.

In other action, the House approved 88-0 a measure that calls for up to 30 days in jail and a $250 fine for impersonating a police officer. The penalty would jump to 15 years in jail and a $7,500 fine if a felony were committed during the impersonation.

By a vote of 89-0, the House forwarded to the Senate an emergency bill that permits the state to insure its own motor vehicles. It was introduced after a contract with a private insurance company was not renewed because of a massive rate increase.

Ohio primary filings

Ronald Reagan, who decided only this week to begin the battle.

Reagan filed as a candidate for the 28 at-large convention delegates and in 18 of the state's 23 congressional districts. Each district elects three delegates.

Reagan's final status will not be known until signatures are validated on petitions supporting the delegate slates. Peter Voss of Canton, Reagan's Ohio campaign director, conceded that some slates are shaky because of the speed with which the signatures were gathered.

The seven Democratic candidates who filed for positions on Ohio's statewide ballot are state Treasurer Gertrude Donahey; Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.; Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace; Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.; former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter; Sen. Frank Church, D-

Idaho, and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris.

Most of those also filed slates in some or all of the congressional districts. In both parties, one-fourth of the convention delegates are elected statewide, with the remaining three-fourths elected within the districts.

Mrs. Donahey heads a favorite daughter slate of state party leaders who hope to go to the convention uncommitted to any of the established candidates.

In the U.S. Senate race, incumbent Robert Taft Jr. is unopposed for the Republican nomination, but four Democrats plan to fight for the right to oppose him.

They are former U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum; U.S. Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio; Cleveland attorney

Richard B. Kay, and Cleveland businessman James D. Nolan.

Kay's status on the ballot is precarious. He is fighting a ruling by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that he does not qualify as a Democratic candidate because of his 1970 candidacy in the American Independent Party. A federal judge has ordered him on the ballot until the matter is resolved.

Three independents also filed petitions. They will be on the November general election ballot.

On the statewide ballot, 12 candidates filed for two openings on the Ohio Supreme Court. The seats are opening because of the retirement of Justices Leonard J. Stern and J. J. P. Corrigan.

Congressional candidates filed in each of Ohio's 23 districts. Ohio voters also will select 16 state senators and 99 state representatives.

Three file at deadline

Two seek to fill treasurer's post

The number of Republican candidates seeking the post of county treasurer doubled Thursday as Robert Highfield and Robert McFadden filed petitions for the office.

Mrs. Ella May Belt and Miss Jean L. Palmer have already filed positions for the post left vacant by Harold A. Hise, who has announced that he will not seek re-election.

A Democrat, Mrs. Letha (Lee) Cruea, has also filed for the position.

Highfield, 414 Van Deman St., is presently serving his third term on the Washington C.H. Board of Education.

He is employed by Mark and Mustine Realtors of Washington C.H. and for 15 years had been chief clerk in charge of bookkeeping for a branch office of the Pure Oil Co. He also worked for a farm machinery sales company for four years.

The 43-year-old Highfield is on the Community Education Advisory Council and is a director of the Fayette County Shepherd's Club. He raises purebred Dorset sheep.

A member of the Fayette County Farm Bureau and the Grace United Methodist Church, Highfield is married to the former Linda Fredrick and is the father of five children.

and dairy producers associations, the Township Trustees and Clerks Association, and the Forest Shade Grange.

His wife, Grace teaches at the Fayette Progressive School, and their four children live at home. The eldest is a student nurse in Springfield while the other three attend school in the Miami Tace district.

The four Republicans will appear on the primary ballot June 8. The winner of the primary will face Mrs. Cruea in the general election Nov. 2.

The individual elected in November will take office the first Monday in Sept., 1977.

McADDEN, 52, of 1278 Jasper Coil Rd., also filed petitions Thursday. A lifelong resident of Fayette County, he operated farms in Perry, Green and Jasper townships until 1965.

At that time he moved to Washington C.H. from Perry Township and became assistant purchasing agent for Redman Industries. He had served as township clerk in Perry Township for 11 years.

Currently employed at Conchemco, Inc., McFadden has been with the firm for the past two years serving as cost accountant.

He is a graduate of Ohio State University and a Navy veteran of World War II. A member of Grace United Methodist Church and the Masonic Lodge, he had formerly been a member of the Good Hope Lions, the National Farm Organization, the Fayette County Farm Bureau, the pork

Democrats offer opposition for sheriff

Jerry A. Miko, 67, of 1800 U.S. 22-E, has begun his third bid to become sheriff of Fayette County.

The only Democrat to file petitions for the office before Thursday's 4 p.m. deadline, Miko will oppose incumbent Donald L. Thompson in the November election.

Twice previously, Miko has sought his party's nomination for office, but on both occasions, other Democratic candidates have emerged from the primary.

The owner-operator of Jerry's Tavern, U.S. 22-E, he came to Fayette County some 20 years ago. He once owned the Rainbow Gardens, CCC Highway-E, which is now the Club 22. He sold the establishment and purchased the tavern on U.S. 22.

A charter member of the Police and Sheriff's Association of North America, Miko had experience in law enforcement while residing in the Cleveland area.

JERRY MIKO

of World War II, he was recommended for espionage duty by his employer. He was also recommended for a U.S. Marshall's position by the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee chairman in 1960.

A former student of John Marshall Law School in Cleveland, Miko has 30 years experience in law enforcement and other related service, most of which came from employment in northern Ohio. He served as a special investigator for Portage County and was assigned to arrest a fugitive bank robber and attempted murder suspect which he did successfully.

Although he has been cited for liquor violations at the tavern, suspension of his license has never been imposed.

Miko notes that previous failures have not deterred him. Nixon lost several times before becoming President of the United States, he points out.

Ford-Reagan fight slated in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford has been conceded at least 15 Republican National Convention delegates from Ohio, but faces what promises to be a major fight with Ronald Reagan for the other 82.

Meanwhile, seven Democratic candidates and a host of favorite sons plan to slug it out in the June 8 primary election for Ohio's 152 Democratic convention delegates.

The candidates filed statewide slates for Ohio's primary election with the secretary of state's office here Thursday. Other delegate slates were filed in congressional districts around the state.

The surprise came from Reagan's campaign, which began its Ohio effort early this week. Reagan supporters filed a full slate of 28 delegates for at-large seats, plus district slates in 18 of Ohio's 23 congressional districts. In both parties, one-fourth of the convention delegates are elected on the statewide ballot, with the remaining three-fourths elected from the district slates.

A week ago, Reagan reportedly had written off Ohio's primary and conceded its 97 convention delegates to

Ohio crime data picture mixed

By The Associated Press

The number of murders and non-negligent manslaughters in Ohio dropped by almost one-third in 1975 as compared to the previous year while serious crime overall rose 12 per cent in the state.

In Parma, there were no murders this past year; Canton experienced a 55 per cent decrease, and Akron and Dayton lowered its rate by 29 per cent. Also, Canton was the only community of over 100,000 population in Ohio to experience a decrease in the number of serious crimes in 1975 compared to the previous year. The drop was by .8 per cent.

Seven other Ohio cities showed increases, ranging from 8.1 per cent in Youngstown to 28.1 per cent in Columbus.

Other cities surveyed in Ohio and their increases in 1975 over 1974 were: Akron, 9.6 per cent; Cincinnati, 9.2;

Cleveland, 11.1; Dayton, 17.3, and Parma, 13.2.

The figures were released Thursday by the U.S. Justice Department and were based on the crime index, composed of offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft as reported by city, county and state law enforcement agencies.

Across the nation, serious crime rose nine per cent compared to 18 percent in 1974 over 1973.

In Canton, the total crime index dropped from 6,532 to 6,480.

In other categories in the index, forcible rape, 49-1974, 47-1975; robbery, 431, 532; aggravated assault, 205, 204; burglary, breaking or entering, 1,760, 1,635; larceny-theft, 3,477, 3,464; motor vehicle theft, 599, 593.

Postal Service loses cremated remains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service has lost the cremated remains of a man sent through the mail for burial at Arlington National Cemetery, postal officials say.

Bertram E. Williams, a retired naval officer, died Jan. 10 at St. Petersburg, Fla. Following the terms of his will, Williams' family had his body cremated and asked that the ashes be shipped to Arlington National Cemetery near Washington for burial.

Murray Watts, stepson of the dead man, said the crematorium forwarded the ashes in an urn placed in a mailing package.

But Raymond J. Costanzo, superintendent of Arlington National Cemetery, said Thursday that the box, about six-by-eight inches, was damaged when it arrived at the cemetery and the urn was not in it.

"The family kept calling us and asking for the date of interment. We kept saying that we couldn't schedule it until we received the remains," Costanzo said.

Costanzo said the cemetery frequently receives urns through the mail containing cremated remains. "In almost 30 years this is the first one ever lost," he said.

Watts said, "We went to the post office and they started a search for it. We kept waiting and waiting but they never found it." St. Petersburg postmaster Harry W. Scott said, "We spent many, many hours trying to locate it and made many telephone calls." But to no avail.

Watts, a St. Petersburg real estate agent, said the family will receive $15 for insurance on the parcel, which was neither registered nor certified.

"This was an absolutely traumatic shock for my mother, who is 83. I don't think she will ever recover from it," said Watts.

Disclosure of the lost urn comes amid rising concern over damage to parcels sent through the mail.

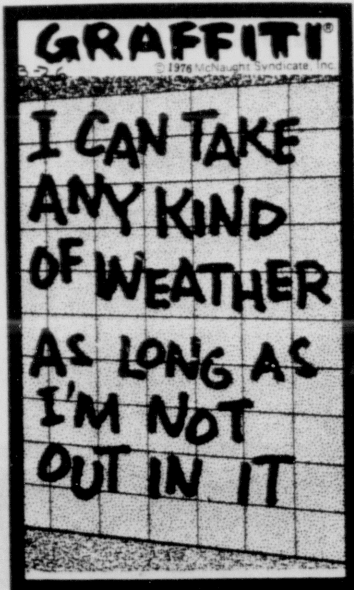

A congressman who has studied the Postal Service's new billion-dollar system for handling parcels said Thursday that it constitutes "a management blunder of the first magnitude."

Chairman Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., of the House postal facilities subcommittee told postal officials that the system "will cost the American public millions of dollars while lowering the quality of mail service."

Postal officials disagreed, saying the agency will solve its problem of parcel damage caused by the new sorting machines.

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If you've been wondering what it is they call the Texas brand of country-rock music, take a gander tonight at public television's "Austin City Limits." It's a good example.

It features singer-composer Jerry Jeff Walker, a New York-born exponent of Lone Star country-rock, and the Lost Gonzo Band, six lads who sing and play acoustic guitar, electric guitar, bass, drums, organ and piano. (Check your TV listings to be sure the show is playing in your area tonight, when the Public Broadcasting Service is feeding it to most PBS stations. Some may elect to air it on another evening.) The program is a straightforward hour of music, 12 tunes sung before a young, enthusiastic studio audience with virtually no between-songs chatter by the performers.

The proceedings start imaginatively, with tuning-up sounds and audio-level checks heard as we see videotaped sights of the Austin area — dusty country roads and shots of such saloons as "The Texas Opry House," where Austin music folks are wont to sneer at the more establishment kind of country music offered in Nashville.

Then it's back to the studio, where the Lost Gonzo boys start things going with "Dead Armadillo," which sounds awfully close to a swing-style number of the 1930s, and a slow pop piece called "Railroad Man."

A subsequent tune, which takes a woeful walk down a country mode, isn't too interesting, but I dug the title, "The Last Thing I Needed the First Thing This Morning was to Have You Walk Out on Me."

Although billed as the headliner, Walker doesn't check in until about 15 minutes into the show, arriving with his shirttail out, strumming a beat-up old guitar and joining the Gonzo gang midway through their hit "London Homesick Blues."

If you've never heard Walker, he sings in a boozy baritone and at times slurs his words so much you'll have trouble understanding the lyrics of "Mr. Bojangles," a nifty tune he wrote in the 1960s.

But he and the Gonzo troops have a relaxed, friendly approach that is mighty appealing. The only problem is that Texas country-rock just seems too confined in a studio.

Protection for porpoises

From ancient times, the porpoise has enjoyed affectionate regard. This has been enhanced in our time by studies emphasizing the almost human qualities of this sportive creature. These warm feelings deepened the shock of learning that many porpoises were inadvertently being killed by tuna fishermen.

The sea mammals get caught in large-mesh nets. Great numbers of them, unable to free themselves, drown. The National Marine Fisheries Service has been trying to devise practicable ways to reduce the slaughter.

Happily, there has been progress in these efforts. The government's Southwest Fisheries Center at La Jolla, Cal., reports that in one test of special fishing gear there was a tenfold decrease in porpoise mortality as compared with the average for the American tuna fleet.

The results are not yet conclusive; there must be more extensive testing. But there is sound reason, now, to hope that methods of protecting the porpoises without impairing the tuna industry will soon be in operation.

Municipal Court's function

Revenue from Washington C.H. Municipal Court has run some 35 per cent lower in the first two months of 1976 than it was for the same period in 1975.

As a result, Judge Robert L. Simpson, who took office Jan. 1, has received some criticism.

Taxpayers who face a half per cent income tax beginning next week and three property tax levies in June note that anticipated court revenue had been set at $140,000 for this year. If the 35 per cent reduction continues, the city's share of revenue from Municipal Court would be only $90,000.

This drop of $50,000 below the projected city income is part (a small part) of the city's financial difficulty.

Law-enforcement officers have reportedly been upset by the fact that some sentences meted by Judge Simpson have seemed somewhat lenient.

It should be understood, however, that the purpose of Municipal Court is not to finance city operation, nor to keep lawenforcement happy.

The purpose of Municipal Court is to deter crime through the imposition appropriate of fines and sentences. What is appropriate, is a matter of individual judgment based on a knowledge of law and circumstances surrounding each case.

The manner in which a violation has arisen must be considered. If someone drives off the highway because he reached for a child crawling out the window, the fine might be quite different from that imposed on someone who tried to negotiate a 35 mile per hour curve at a speed of 55.

The responsibility for determining fact from fiction and weighing the evidence is what the voters entrusted to the judge when elected. He is an experienced professional. Although he (and everyone else) will occasionally err, his background in law assures area residents that he will make less mistakes than they would in the same circumstances.

Suspended fines and jail terms are commonly used by Judge Simpson. Their purpose is to warn the offender of the seriousness of his offense. They are not paid and forgotten, but loom over the offender as a continuing reminder of his visit to court. They stand as a deterrent to a repeat appearance in court.

If repeat offenders where to appear in court and not have their previously suspended fines reimposed, the judge would seem negligent in his duties. This does not appear to have been the case, however.

Judge Simpson has been "tough" with repeat offenders. He has meted jail terms and reimposed suspended sentences.

While he has been lenient with first offenders, he has in the majority of cases imposed much stiffer penalties on those who refuse to heed his initial warnings.

Since the sole purpose of Municipal Court is to deter crime, if suspended sentences can effectively be used to stop the offender from repeating his mistake, it would seem that the court has accomplished its purpose.

While the present reduction in revenue is easily calculated, the true test of the court's effectiveness cannot yet be measured. Only a long-range look at the number of repeat offenders will allow such an assessment.

For those who are especially concerned with the financial considerations, it should be noted the reduction of the police department's patrolling capacity by two men has lowered the number of traffic cases presented to the court, and these cases produce the greatest percentage of revenue.

It is also important to add that when repeat offenders begin reappearing in court for second and third offenses, the court revenue is likely to increase.

If revenue remains low because these people are not returned for subsequent offenses, it will be a tribute to Judge Simpson's methods, not a cause for criticism.

Editor's mailbox

EDITOR, Record-Herald:

Medical associations are implementing their definition of death. They do not want a state law. We over esteem the medical professions as we do the legal and other professions. The world of scientific jargon overwhelms us. We accept the professional's conduct without question. That is not in our best interest.

The scientific method is only for the classroom. In actual practice, the professions labor under the same narrow and closed mind inhibitions that limit all of us. We should not permit the medical doctors to devise their own rules. The choice must be ours.

We should speak our opinions to legislators that are asking for our help. We might regret remaining silent. We cannot rely on religious leaders to speak for us in the area of defining death.

The Quinlan case resulted in the family's priest favoring termination of life. I fail to reconcile that decision of ending life with the same church's prohibition against taking a life in abortion.

Life is not ours to terminate. We should shudder in terror to contemplate the course that could follow if we grant a mere human with authority to decide life and death. "Consignment to the grave rather than extraordinary life saving attempts may be the most humane choice in coping with the tragic birth of a severely handicapped child," says Yale University Pediatrician Dr. Raymond S. Duff.

That type of professional thinking is dangerous. There is a loud noise in the land about death with dignity. What about life with dignity?

Bigger ballot type

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elderly and other Ohioans who have trouble reading fine print would have a better chance of understanding proposed constitutional amendments under a bill making its way through the legislature, sponsors say.

The bill would halt the practice of putting the proposals into 4-point type, or even smaller, and require instead that the explanations be in at least 10-point type, under a headline of at least 30 points.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, also would require in his bill—which received 24-6 Senate approval earlier this week—that the package would have to be enclosed in a black border setting it off from the remainder of a newspaper's classified or legal advertising content.

The Mahoning County lawmaker, urging passage in the Senate, displayed an entire newspaper page of fine print that was used last fall to fulfill a requirement for publication of ballot issues.

"This is in type so small that even those persons with a magnifying glass would have trouble finding out what those (nine) issues were all about," he said. The senator said that while the page came from his hometown newspaper "it was much the same all over the state."

Meshel said the cost of his proposal would be negligible statewide. He estimated that putting the explanations into so-called display (as opposed to classified) ads would have hiked last fall's costs from about $230,000 to about $322,000.

He recalled that a few years ago, the legislature abandoned its former requirement that pamphlets containing the ballot issue explanations be sent to all of the state's voters. "We did it to save about $500,000 a year, but we turned out to be penny wise and pound foolish," he said.

The senators said he was convinced that many voters rejected Gov. James A. Rhodes' four-part ballot package last November because they didn't understand it "the merits of the issues notwithstanding." He said he believes many failed to be convinced of the merits of the proposals on the basis of privately financed, commercial-oriented media campaigns.

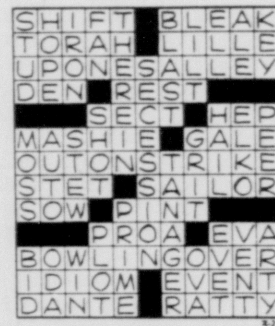

When the state discontinued the ballot pamphlets, which were mailed to voters, it created at the same time the Ohio Ballot Board which is assigned the task of devising understandable language to explain issues in a new type of pamphlet available to voters when they reach the polls. Meshel claims voters need time to study them beforehand.

He stressed that his bill does nothing to increase rates charged by newspapers, other than requiring extra space. He said the legislation was supported by the Ohio Newspaper Association and by at least five newspapers he contacted personally, including two in Columbus and three in other cities.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Love holds together interfaith marriage

DEAR ABBY: About that Protestant mother who was upset because her son married a Catholic girl:

I also came from a strict Catholic family. The girl I fell in love with was the daughter of a Methodist minister. When we made plans to marry, my folks and all the relatives made an awful fuss. Added to their objections was the fact my lady love had a Jewish ancestor way back in her family.

Regardless of all their objections, we went ahead and got married. None of my people came to the wedding. They also cut me out of their will. I could not have cared less.

My wife and I are both in our 80s and have celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary.

We have wonderful sons, daughters and grandchildren and have always made them feel free to marry whomever they wanted, regardless of religion.

The Lord must have approved of our marriage or He wouldn't have blessed us with such a long and happy one.

BROAD—MINDED IN MPLS.
DEAR BROAD—MINDED: Three cheers for an interfaith marriage that let love overcome religious nitpicking.

DEAR ABBY: Please print your answer so my husband will see it.

What do you think of a 28-year-old man who has been married for seven years and who tells all his friends at work EXACTLY what happened in his bedroom the night before?

We have always had a wonderful sex life, which keeps getting better every year. But since I caught wind of this, I feel cheap.

When I questioned my husband about it, he denied saying anything, but from the things that have come back to me, I know that he has been talking plenty. (The wife of one of his buddies gets all the details from her husband, and she tells me.)

If my husband doesn't get over these high school habits, I'm afraid it will be the end of our sex life. Help me.

OPEN BOOK IN MICHIGAN

DEAR OPEN: Tell your husband that you KNOW he has been babbling at work about your intimate relations, and if he doesn't keep his big mouth shut, he's not going to have anything to talk about!

DEAR ABBY: I have a backyard neighbor who has been watching me for the last two years. I thought perhaps he wanted to be friendly, but when I see him on the street, he turns his head.

He has a 9 to 5 job and is home on weekends. Every time I look out of my back window I see him in his backyard, staring at my back door, waiting for me to appear.

He has driven past my home several times, slowing up to look. Even the neighbors have mentioned it.

He is married, but I seldom see his wife. We have never spoken to each other, either, but I'm sure she knows that I am her neighbor. My husband and I don't want to cause any trouble as we plan on living in this neighborhood for a long time, but this man gives me the creeps.

Do you think I should go to the police? He really hasn't done anything except stare at my back door and drive around my house.

Should I initiate a conversation with this man or perhaps talk to his wife? Please help me.

FRIGHTENED
DEAR FRIGHTENED: You may be unjustifiably suspicious, or you may have a point. While with your husband, initiate a friendly conversation with this neighbor. His reaction should tell you something.

Cain Slays Abel

Cain was very wrath . . . and it came to pass . . . that (he) rose up against Abel, his brother, and slew him. — Genesis 4: 5-8

Cain and Abel labored at their respective tasks—Cain as a farmer, Abel as a shepherd—until the day came when they were to offer the first fruits of their toil to the Lord, who kept an ever watchful eye upon them. According to the Scriptures, Abel brought the firstlings of his flock; Cain, the products of the earth. God, we are told, was pleased with Abel's offering, but had no "respect" for Cain's. From then on, Cain was fired with an all-consuming jealousy of his brother. And a day came when, as both labored in the fields, Cain, unable to control his feelings any longer, rose up and killed him. Later the Lord appeared, asking the whereabouts of Abel, and Cain answered: "Am I my brother's keeper?"—words which have been echoed over and over down through the ages.

Persecution continues

Reports received from eyewitnesses tell of widespread persecution of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout Malawi during September and October, 1975. Members of the religious order have been beaten, raped, robbed, driven from their homes, and publicly abused by Malawi Congress Party members and government officials. Parents have been forcibly separated from young children, even infants, and placed in detention.

From the Malawian government's point of view, the issue concerns burying the Malawi Congress Party card, which bears the picture of Dr. H. Kamuzu Banda, Life President of the Country. Without this Jehovah's Witnesses in many areas are not allowed to buy food, draw water from wells, live in homes or even have police protection.

From the point of view of Jehovah's Witnesses in the country, about 30,000 adults and children, the issue is one of religion and conscience, respect for which Malawi, as a member of the United Nations, avows. Jesus said in the Holy Bible, (John 17:16) concerning his followers: "They are no part of the world, just as I am no part of the world." Following this belief, Jehovah's Witnesses refuse to become members of the Malawi Congress Party or any other political party, but insist on a politically neutral stand. This position has caused problems for them in many parts of the world.

Nonetheless, they are generally recognized as model citizens. They seek to obey the law, and pay their taxes, but refuse to have anything to do with membership in a political party, putting their faith instead in a heavenly government by Jehovah God.

The issue became critical in Malawi when, in September 1972, the Malawi Congress Party adopted a series of resolutions aimed at Jehovah's Witnesses, which resolved that those employed in commerce, industry, and by the government be dismissed.

The Young Pioneers, a political youth group, were used to enforce this decree against all persons known to be Jehovah's Witnesses in Malawi. As reported by The World in Johannesburg, October 12, 1972, the party's youth began systematically beating up and otherwise intimidating members of the banned Jehovah's Witnesses sect who refused to buy cards because of their creed.

About 19,000 of Jehovah's Witnesses fled to Zambia in the fall of 1972 where Dr. Hugo Idoyaga, United Nations High Commission representative, reported, "Many of the refugees bore cuts and gashes apparently inflicted by pangas, the huge knives common to East Africa." After conferences between a Zambia government spokesman and the Malawi Government, the refugees were repatriated, only to face continued abuse and harassment.

From Malawi they fled to Mozambique where over 34,000 were kindly cared for in refugee camps by government administrators and by members of their own faith. They were provided with food and clothing during the next few years.

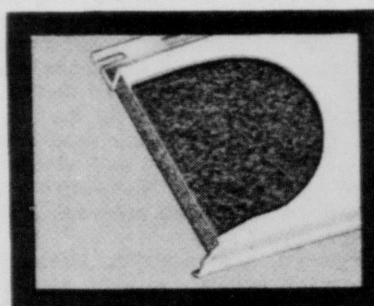

However, with the 1975 change in the Mozambique government pressures against Jehovah's Witnesses began anew as all the people were called upon to take sides politically by shouting political slogans and signing political songs. President Samora Machel, according to the Rhodesia Herald, October 11, 1975, "warned the Jehovah's Witness sect in Mozambique that it must obey Government directives." Religious freedom appeared to dissolve in that country also! In fact, beginning on August 19, 1975, Witnesses began to be repatriated to Malawi.

Soon the Malawi Young Pioneers and members of the League of Malawi Youth renewed their attacks against the Witnesses. Beatings and harassment of Jehovah's Witnesses in Malawi continue.

Otterbein College founded by the United Brethren Church, and Oberlin College founded by Congregationalists in 1833, had several things in common. Both Ohio schools were centers of antislavery feeling and they were the first coed colleges in the world.

Polks to observe anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sampson Polk of Ohio Rt. 72, near Sabina, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Home Federal community room in Wilmington.

The reception is being given by their daughter, Mrs. Vivian Ewing of Wilmington, and their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Polk of Blanchester, and Mr. and Mrs.

James Polk of Washington C.H. Miss Esta Storer and Mr. Polk, both of Sabina, were married March 25, 1926, in the Wilmington Church of Christ by the Rev. Brown. They have resided all their married lives in the Sabina community. Mr. Polk is retired from farming.

The couple requests that gifts be omitted.

Homemakers meet in the home of Mrs. Thornton

Mrs. Don Thornton was hostess for the March meeting of the Bloomingburg Wednesday Club, when Mrs. Laurence Garinger opened the meeting with the poem, "Good Morning."

Mrs. Fred Oswald, secretary, read minutes of the previous meeting and a report of flowers sent to Mrs. Ewing Fichtelthorn, a member who is recuperating from a heart attack, was made. Cards for other ill members were signed.

"Foolish Intentions and Foolish Answers" was the topic presented by Mrs. Garinger, president. Mrs. Oswald also read the poem "St. Patrick's Day," written by the late Mr. Frank Grubbs. "Every Dream" was read by Mrs. Garinger.

Refreshments were served from the dining room table by the hostess to Mrs. Forest Hains, Mrs. Harry Elliott, Mrs. Martin Morris, Mrs. Garinger and Mrs. Oswald.

"YOU CAN DO IT!"

"Homemakers can repair even serious-looking wall damage," according to television hostess Cindy Kidwell of the "You Can Do It!" series, seen locally each Tuesday at 7:00 P.M. on Cable TV, Channel 8.

This week's program, "The Great Coverup," will teach viewers how to repair walls with cracks, holes or missing plaster.

Also, it will discuss techniques for fastening things to walls.

The 9-part "You Can Do It!" educational series for local do-it-yourselfers is sponsored by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service.

It was created and produced by home economics specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, through a special United States Department of Agriculture grant.

Next week's program, "Paint It Yourself," will feature house interiors.

TIME TO START

YOUR VEGETABLE GARDEN

Several vegetable crops develop their best quality during the cool weather of spring. These include radishes, green onions, beets, carrots, leaf lettuce, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, Swiss chard, and peas. Two perennial vegetables to plant now—and enjoy for many years—are asparagus and rhubarb.

In your eagerness to start gardening, be careful not to work the soil when it's too wet. Soil that's worked too wet will be cloddy and hard to handle all season long. To test, squeeze a handful of soil. If you can press the soil into a ball, delay spading. If the soil crumbles freely when you release the pressure, it's ready to work.

A soil test will help you know how much and what kind of fertilizer to use. Your county Extension office can give you more information about soil test. Do call us (335-1150) for details. Fertilizer is expensive this year—you'll want to use exactly what's needed and no more.

The structure of heavy soils is greatly improved by adding organic matter. If possible, cover the garden area with several inches of peat moss, compost, sawdust, manure, or other organic material and work it into the top layer of soil.

Start your tomato, eggplant and pepper plants now. These vegetables of tropical origin don't go out in the garden until mid-May when frost danger is over. Use coarse sand or a mixture of peat and perlite for germinating seeds. Remember—to get good sturdy transplants, give the plants plenty of bright light and avoid overwatering.

"Home Vegetable Gardening" has a good time table and directions for planting. "Vegetable Varieties for Ohio Home Gardens" can help you choose varieties resistant to disease and suitable for freezing. Both bulletins are free by calling or stopping by our office at 319 South Fayette Street.

Get prepared to spend spring in the Vegetable garden. You'll enjoy the nice weather—and many good vegetables later on.

WAYNE PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

State Highway Patrolman Schafer spoke at the Wayne Progressive Farmers meeting at Wayne Hall recently. The meeting was called to order by Jeff Wilt, president, when a discussion about the Fish Fry and a program committee was chosen. Members are: Debbie Cremeans, Mark Rife, Marilyn Seifried, and Jeff Wilt. Final plans were made for the trip to the Ohio State Vet Clinic, and Tricia Johnson announced the statewide safety poster contest which is in March. Topics for the contest are water safety and summer safety.

The club was urged to attend the upcoming events, the state sale and show in Springfield, the Duroc state sale and show at the Ohio State Fairgrounds and the Dorset show and sale at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Following the meeting, Patrolman Schafer pointed out to the young members of the club about mini-bike safety. He also talked about the car, farm and bicycle safety.

The club will meet on Friday, in Wayne Hall. Refreshments were served.

200 YEARS OF FASHION — Two of the gowns to be worn at the Fashion Show and Tea at 4 p.m. April 4 at Mahan Hall are shown in Steen's store window. Styles date back 200 years, and all proceeds from the show will go towards the Creative Living project for the handicapped.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION — A numerous collection of dresses and accessories have been acquired by a Bicentennial committee for the Fashion Show and Tea to be held at 4 p.m. April 4. All pieces are authentic, and will represent "200 years of fashion."

Fashions of Yesteryear—Custom-made only

What if one had to have her own little dressmaker? What if women couldn't go into a store in Washington C.H. or Columbus or Cincinnati and find a ready-made dress that they could wear that very day or evening? What if there were NO ready-made dresses? What if one had to plan far ahead for clothes by choosing non-standardized-size dress patterns, choosing one's own yard goods and booking time with a seamstress or planning time to be one's own seamstress? This was the case in the early 1900's in the towns and cities of the United States.

In those days—as in French cities, even Paris, as late as the 1950's—one had to arrange time with a seamstress who copied with modest or sometimes exquisite skill those pictures seen in the "Delineator", "The Ladies' Home Journal", and other monthly style publications who took their lead from Paris across the broad Atlantic. These magazines were not in each and every home but were preciously loaned around.

Older women in this community with memories dating back to the early days of the century tell of an exceptional modiste formerly in Washington C.H., Mrs. Katherine Fortier, who for many years maintained a suite or rooms in the Masonic Temple building above what is now Steen's Department Store. There she employed five or six skilled young seamstresses. Several times a year she made trips by train to New York City to buy fine materials, trimmings, and accessories for her customers. Some of the gowns worn in the "Milady's Fashions for Over 200 Years Show" to be presented at Mahan Hall on April 4 are the creations of Mrs. Fortier. Today, Steen's Department Store is displaying some of the modish fashion creations of Mrs. Fortier's heyday.

The full collection of fashions of the Bicentennial past will be modeled at the Fashion Show and Tea on April 4 at 4 p.m. at Mahan Hall. Reservations may be made and tickets acquired through the Chamber of Commerce, or with Mrs. Louis Baer, Mrs. Robert Hagerty, Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee and Mrs. Suzanne Sams—and on Friday afternoons of March 26 and April 2 at the Huntington Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Ogle of Clarksville, Tenn., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daugherty and son, Stefan, Ohio Rt. 753, this weekend.

SILLY STITCHERS

The Silly Stitchers 4-H Club met at the Jeffersonville School, March 9, 1976. The meeting was called to order by Sandy Sams, vice president, in absence of the president. The Pledge of Allegiance and 4-H Pledge was led by Pam Pitzer. Fourteen member answered roll call by giving a safety rule. The secretary's minutes were read by Deneen Steen in absence of Teresa Keim. Anita Webb, safety officer, read a report on "Treatment of Shock". Susie Valentine gave a talk on "Recycling, A Way to Get Rid of Junk".

Sandy Sams, fair booth chairman, gave a report on the upcoming 1976 fair booth. An outdoor garden theme will be used for the booth. She asked various members for articles and help. The community projects this year will be a "Clean Up Jeff" day and Cancer Fund drive.

The Club voted on a second money making project. They will hold a car wash one day in May. Candy kits were given to all members to sell.

Three different educational trips have been planned for the club. One will be touring Pennington Bread and Cudahy Foods Co. Sandy Sams will contact these businesses for dates. Plans were also made to visit the Ohio Natural Museum in Columbus.

Sandy Sams gave a demonstration on "Preparing Pattern for Projects". Also included in this was a discussion on the pattern instruction sheets.

The next meeting was held at Jeffersonville School on Tuesday and Toyia Smith and Angelia Stires served refreshments.

After the meeting was adjourned, Deneen Steen and Cindy Sams served the club refreshments. Angela Stires was recreation leader.

Cooks want recipe for Kolacky

OLD-FASHIONED LARDER — Kolacky are at the left on the top shelf in this photograph from a new cookbook, "Better Homes and Gardens Home-Style Cooking."

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

DEAR CECILY: I enjoy your wonderful recipes. Wonder if you could whip up one for Kolacky — MIDWEST.

DEAR MIDWEST: I'm glad you asked about Kolacky (also spelled Kolache) because recently another reader complained that I have not written about these yeast buns with their fruit filling in a long time! The following recipe is one I have tried and am happy to recommend.

PRUNE KOLACKY

3½ to 4¼ cups all-purpose flour
1 package active dry yeast
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup milk
1-3rd cup sugar
1-3rd cup shortening
2 eggs
Prune Filling, see below
In large mixing bowl combine 2 cups of the flour, yeast, peel, and nutmeg. Heat milk, sugar, shortening, and 1 teaspoon salt just till warm (115-120 degrees), stirring constantly. Add to dry mixture; add eggs. Beat at low speed of electric mixer ½ minute; scrape sides of bowl constantly. Beat 3 minutes at high speed. Stir in ¼ to ¾ cups flour to make a moderately soft dough. On floured surface knead in remaining ¼ to ½ cup flour; knead till smooth and elastic (5 to 8 minutes). Place in greased bowl; turn to grease surface. Cover; let rise till double (about 2 hours). Punch down; divide in half. Cover; let rest 10 minutes.

Shape each half into 12 balls; place 3 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Flatten each to 3-inch diameter. Cover; let rise till double (about 1 hour). Make depression in center of each; fill with Prune Filling. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 24.

Prune filling: Place 1½ cups dried prunes in saucepan with water to cover by 1 inch. Cover; bring to boiling. Simmer 25 to 30 minutes. Drain, pit, and chop; stir in ¼ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon.

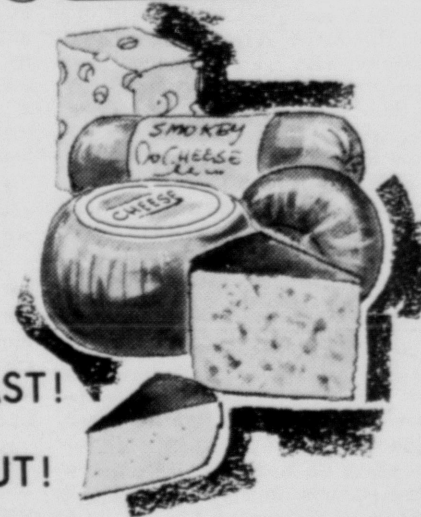

This recipe is from "Better Homes and Gardens Home-Style Cooking" (Meredith, 1975) $2.95

Laurel Oaks does well in district competition

Laurel Oaks students brought home many honors for outstanding performances in their fields recently as a result of the Great Oaks Joint Vocational School District contest in the VICA Skill Olympics held at Scarlet Oaks.

The students participated in approximately 18 different contests, and took six first place awards. First place winners were: auto body, Tim Dolph; construction electricity, Tom Shaw; mobile homes, Tom Root; job interview, Debbie Young; and members of the parliamentary procedure team, Nancy Sword, Linda Hickey, Jay Groves, John Betz, Russ Beatty, Tom Alexander, Dave Taylor, and Roy Wilson.

First place winners from Fayette County were Alan Holbrook in masonry, and Nancy Hodge, a member of parliamentary procedure team.

Other awards were: masonry: Rick Wright, second; Mark Ford, third, and Tim Crum, fourth auto body: Ron Rowe, second; construction electricity: Sam Treterrell, second, Alan Overbey, fourth, and Chester Blackwell, fifth; machine trades: Jeff Reese, third, and Milford Beachy, fourth; Mobile Homes: Pata Horning, second, and Jeff Hudson, third.

The first place winners and Jeff Reese, a third place winner, will represent Great Oaks in the Regional VICA Contest to be held at Montgomery County J.V.S. Saturday.

Laurel Oaks was also well represented in other competition. The team of The team of Alan Hertlein and Roger Hilterbrand was victorious in the District 4 FFA Competition for Small Engine Repair held at Lynchburg-Clay High School on March 18. Hilterbrand is from Fayette County.

There were two other teams from Laurel Oaks in this competition, which were comprised of John Kirby and Greg Woodrow, and Bill Knapp and David Funk. Woodrow and Funk are both from Fayette County.

The Hertlein-Hilterbrand team will represent Laurel Oaks in State Competition on Saturday, April 3 at Eastland J.V.S. in Columbus.

Two injured in accident

A culvert located a third of a mile north of Ohio 41 on the Blessing Chapel Road, was the scene of a Thursday accident.

Donald R. Bennett, 28, of Jeffersonville, was headed north on the Blessing Chapel Road when he lost control of his car and struck a culvert at 4 p.m. Thursday. The car rolled over on its left side, incurring slight damage in the process. Though both Bennett and his passenger, Kris Simmerman, 27, of South Solon, showed signs of injury, neither were taken to the hospital.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies also reported a 3:23 p.m. Thursday accident in which a car slid into a ditch.

Jeffery N. Tuvell, 20, of 509 Damen Dr., reported that as he was travelling north on the Stuckey Road, a vehicle approached him proceeding left of center near U.S. 22. Tuvell moved off the right side of the road, then swerved to the left, skidded back across the roadway, struck a ditch and landed in an open field. There was moderate damage to Tuvell's car.

Courts

DIVORCE ACTIONS DISMISSED

The divorce action filed in Common Pleas Court by Beulah F. Curnutte, 620½ N. North St., against Charles Curnutte has been dismissed at the request of the plaintiff.

The divorce action filed by Tanya D. Dilley, 2287 Bogus Rd., against John V. Dilley has been dismissed at the request of the plaintiff.

DISSOLUTION DISMISSED

The petition for dissolution filed in Common Pleas Court by Thomas and Brenda Montgomery, 114 Circle Ave., has been dismissed at the request of the parties.

DISSOLUTION GRANTED

Russell D. Lindsey, 8252 U.S. 62-S, and Georgianna Lindsey, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., have been granted a dissolution of marriage in accordance with their separation agreement.

CIVIL SUIT DISMISSED

A civil suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Ralph Whiteside, Rt. 2, McArthur, against Alan Partridge, Knox, Ind., has been settled by the parties and dismissed with prejudice to further action. The suit involved a two-truck collision near the U.S. 35-Interstate 71 intersection in Oct., 1974.

It incorrectly appeared in Thursday's edition that Thomas Rankin was the father of a juvenile court defendant. Rankin is, in fact, the assistant principal of Washington Senior High School and had filed the complaint against the girl.

Solar energy proves cheap to professor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University professor with a $200 solar energy system in his home to heat water says his system will pay for itself in two years.

Prof. Stanley A. Mumma of the Ohio State mechanical engineering department, who teaches a seminar in residential applications of sun power, said the portable water heating system in his Columbus home will save him $125 per year in electrical costs.

He described the system as "the simplest and most economically feasible application for our climate."

"Solar air conditioning is farther in the future. A great deal more engineering must go into its design before it is practical," said Mumma.

The professor said a device known as a heat pump is available as a backup system for solar devices during cloudy weather. Otherwise, conventional energy sources must be used.

"An electrical heat pump, which works like a refrigerator in reverse to extract heat from outside air, currently costs only 60 per cent as much to operate as electrical resistance heating in the Columbus area," said Mumma.

He said the heat pump provides electrical heat almost as cheaply as heating systems using fuel oil.

Train crash said caused by fireman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three-train collision in northeastern Ohio last year that killed one man and injured seven others occurred because the fireman operating one of the trains was going faster than allowed by railroad rules, the National Transportation Safety Board said today.

The accident near Leetonia, Ohio last June 6 occurred when a 59-car west-bound freight train stopped on a curve. The train was struck from the rear by a 104-car freight train which was west-bound on the same track. Seconds after that accident, a 65-car eastbound freight slammed into the collision wreckage which had blocked an adjacent track.

This summer you could be getting out of the house to enjoy air-conditioned comfort. In addition, you would be paid an attractive wage. After one year, you would receive one week of paid vacation and during the year, you would be paid for 10 holidays. This is factory employment, but we are unlike most factories. Our floors are spotless, our equipment brand new.

We offer full time, long term openings. Many will be for the 2nd and 3rd shifts. Your work schedule would involve working Saturday and Sunday. We have a workable and realistic bidding procedure which allows for advancement from within and the expression of shift preference, when possible.

REMODELING — The dance room in the soon-to-open Possum Holler Lounge, formerly the Lafayette Inn, has undergone some changes under the Zugg Brothers' new management. A band stage, to the right, has been created, and a little alcove, "Possum Den" has been constructed across from the stage. The new establishment is slated to open by late April.

Community Education activities

By Hank Shaffer

Community Education will sponsor its third annual Kite Day Saturday afternoon at 2, at the Washington Senior High School. Members of the Business and Professional Women will judge the youngsters for the most colorful, highest flying, largest kite to get into the air, and the most unique.

Prizes have been donated by a number of area merchants and nearly all youngsters participating will win a prize. Those merchants donating include Moore's Dream House, MacDonald's, Super X. Murphy Mart Buckeye Mart, K-Mart, Courtview Restaurant, Risch's, Wendy's, Great Scott, Hidy's, Seaway, and Stop-N-Go. There is no charge to enter.

On Tuesday, April 6th, the Cincinnati Bengals will come to Washington C.H. to play a benefit basketball game against the coaches and faculty from both Miami Trace and Washington C.H. The game will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Washington Senior High gym and the proceeds will go to the Community Education Drill Team and the Community Education program.

The Bengals that will be here include Bengal Captain Bob Johnson, Ken Johnson, Tommy Casanova, Lenvil Elliott, Rufus Mayes, Ron Carpenter and Al Beauchamp. They will be on hand during the halftime to sign autographs for those wanting them.

The local team will be comprised of Fred Zechman, Phil Bihl, Jeff Parker, Mike Henry, Charlie Andrews and Bill Sowash from Miami Trace; and Gary Shaffer, Richard Crooks, Dwight Garrett, Jon Creamer, Ken Hayes and Maurice Pfeifer from Washington C.H.

Tickets for the game will be $1.50 in advance and $2 at the gate that evening. Tickets are available at Lynch's Newsstand, Kirk's Auto Parts, Courtview Restaurant, Warner's Sport Shop, Patton's, Risch's Downtown Drugs, and French Hardware.

We hope that you will come out and support both the Kite Day and the Cincinnati Bengals basketball game.

Jasper PTO March meet

The Jasper P.T.O. held its March meeting at the school recently. The meeting was opened with President Sid Woodrow requesting a moment of silence in remembrance of the late Burke Kearney. Mr. Kearney was a former schoolteacher and principal of the school for many years.

On the calendar of events, a "working fun day" will be held at the school on April 24 for all P.T.O. members who are willing to give time and energy for the improvement of their school. Outside buildings are in a state of much needed repair. The school is needing necessary equipment without adequate means of storage at the present time.

It was voted to paint all playground equipment a patriotic red, white, and blue. Ed Ball and Neil Brady, Scout leaders, agreed that it would make a worthwhile project for their scout troops. Mr. Woodrow will submit a list of materials needed for the project to

Riflemen's annual meet

The 105-year-old National Rifle Association, which is the largest sportmen's organization in the country with over 1,000,000 members, has scheduled its 1976 annual meeting and firearms exhibit for April 2-6 in Indianapolis, Ind. at the Convention-Exposition Center.

Authorities from such fields as conservation and hunting, wilderness survival and Olympic rifle competition will address daily sessions and the latest in sporting firearms, antique and collectible firearms, and other sporting accessories and equipment will be on display in the 260-booth in the center.

The exhibit hall will be open 1 to 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 10 p.m. daily during the show days and NRA members presenting membership identification and firearm, law enforcement officers and Armed Forces representatives in uniform will be admitted free of charge. The exhibits are open to the public.

Interchange of viruses

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one seems sure, but Agriculture Department scientists say pigs can probably catch the flu from humans as well as pass it on to them if everyone concerned is not careful.

Swine — that means hogs and pigs — have recently come in for notoriety with the identification of a deadly "swine flu strain" of virus, and the government announced plans Wednesday to vaccinate Americans against the disease.

The swine flu strain was blamed for 20 million deaths worldwide in a 1918 epidemic, including 500,000 Americans. The rare kind of flu, which now has cropped up again, reportedly was first identified or associated among swine and thus named after the barnyard animals.

Dr. J. M. Hejl, deputy administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said pigs catch colds and flu the same as humans and that those ailments probably can be passed back and forth between people and pigs.

Council slates special meeting Monday night

A special session of Washington C.H. City Council has been called for Monday night.

Council will convene in the city office building at 7:30 p.m. to discuss several matters related to budgeting and city administrative operations.

City Manager George Shapter said the meeting is primarily a work session, and no legislation is expected to be introduced.

As a public session, however, motions needed to implement some of the operating procedures could be considered, he added.

To be discussed are methods of billing for sewers, collection of the income tax, taxicab service in the city, and the city's traffic light replacement program.

Anticrime bills progress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State lawmakers advanced bills aimed at arsonists and other criminals before adjourning Thursday until early next week.

They left in doubt, however, the fate of another measure designed to eliminate Ohio's bed sheet primary ballots. The House refused to concur in Senate amendments, leaving unanswered a question of whether voters will have to mark cumbersome paper ballots in the June 8 primary instead of being able to use machines.

House sponsors said they will move to have the elections bill reconsidered next Tuesday. It must be enacted by April 9 in order for the secretary of state to prescribe the form of ballots for the upcoming presidential primary.

The Senate voted without dissent to extend immunity from lawsuits to insurance companies which cooperate with public officials on arson investigations.

Sponsors of the enabling bill, which went to the House, say under present law, companies are reluctant to turn over results of their investigations for fear that if they lost their own suits to recover damages, they could be countersued.

Under the measure by Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, they would be immune from such countersuits unless a determination were made that they had acted "with malice or in bad faith," Butts told the Senate.

His bill has broad support from fire chiefs in most of Ohio's big cities, including Cincinnati where damages from incendiary type fires shot up to $2.6 million last year, compared with only $600,000 the year before. Butts said more than half (56.4 per cent) of the fires last year in Toledo were attributed to arson or incendiary causes.

The House, meanwhile, resurrected and approved a previously sidetracked bill that sets six months imprisonment and a $7,500 fine for throwing a hard object or firing a gun at a motor vehicle, boat, plane, train, or other vehicle.

The bill resulted from the death of a Bucyrus girl 15 months ago. She was fatally injured when a 20-pound chunk of asphalt was thrown from an overpass on the Ohio Turnpike and hit her car.

The House approved the bill in early January, but called it back for reconsideration to correct technical difficulties. The measure by Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, now goes to the Senate.

In other action, the House approved 88-0 a measure that calls for up to 30 days in jail and a $250 fine for impersonating a police officer. The penalty would jump to 15 years in jail and a $7,500 fine if a felony were committed during the impersonation.

By a vote of 89-0, the House forwarded to the Senate an emergency bill that permits the state to insure its own motor vehicles. It was introduced after a contract with a private insurance company was not renewed because of a massive rate increase.

Ohio crime data picture mixed

By The Associated Press

The number of murders and non-negligent manslaughters in Ohio dropped by almost one-third in 1975 as compared to the previous year while serious crime overall rose 12 per cent in the state.

In Parma, there were no murders this past year; Canton experienced a 55 per cent decrease, and Akron and Dayton lowered its rate by 29 per cent. Also, Canton was the only community of over 100,000 population in Ohio to experience a decrease in the number of serious crimes in 1975 compared to the previous year. The drop was by .8 per cent.

Seven other Ohio cities showed increases, ranging from 8.1 per cent in Youngstown to 28.1 per cent in Columbus.

Other cities surveyed in Ohio and their increases in 1975 over 1974 were: Akron, 9.6 per cent; Cincinnati, 9.2;

Cleveland, 11.1; Dayton, 17.3, and Parma, 13.2.

The figures were released Thursday by the U.S. Justice Department and were based on the crime index, composed of offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft as reported by city, county and state law enforcement agencies.

Across the nation, serious crime rose nine per cent compared to 18 percent in 1974 over 1973.

In Canton, the total crime index dropped from 6,532 to 6,480.

In other categories in the index, forcible rape, 49-1974, 47-1975; robbery, 431, 532; aggravated assault, 205, 204; burglary, breaking or entering, 1,760, 1,635; larceny-theft, 3,477, 3,464; motor vehicle theft, 599, 593.

Ohio primary filings

Ronald Reagan, who decided only this week to begin the battle.

Reagan filed as a candidate for the 28 at-large convention delegates and in 18 of the state's 23 congressional districts. Each district elects three delegates.

Reagan's final status will not be known until signatures are validated on petitions supporting the delegate slates. Peter Voss of Canton, Reagan's Ohio campaign director, conceded that some slates are shaky because of the speed with which the signatures were gathered.

The seven Democratic candidates who filed for positions on Ohio's statewide ballot are state Treasurer Gertrude Donahey; Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.; Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace; Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.; former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter; Sen. Frank Church, D-

Idaho, and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris.

Most of those also filed slates in some or all of the congressional districts. In both parties, one-fourth of the convention delegates are elected statewide, with the remaining three-fourths elected within the districts.

Mrs. Donahey heads a favorite daughter slate of state party leaders who hope to go to the convention uncommitted to any of the established candidates.

In the U.S. Senate race, incumbent Robert Taft Jr. is unopposed for the Republican nomination, but four Democrats plan to fight for the right to oppose him.

They are former U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum; U.S. Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio; Cleveland attorney

Richard B. Kay, and Cleveland businessman James D. Nolan.

Kay's status on the ballot is precarious. He is fighting a ruling by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that he does not qualify as a Democratic candidate because of his 1970 candidacy in the American Independent Party. A federal judge has ordered him on the ballot until the matter is resolved.

Three independents also filed petitions. They will be on the November general election ballot.

On the statewide ballot, 12 candidates filed for two openings on the Ohio Supreme Court. The seats are opening because of the retirement of Justices Leonard J. Stern and J.J.P. Corrigan.

Congressional candidates filed in each of Ohio's 23 districts. Ohio voters also will select 16 state senators and 99 state representatives.

Three file at deadline

Two seek to fill treasurer's post

The number of Republican candidates seeking the post of county treasurer doubled Thursday as Robert Highfield and Robert McFadden filed petitions for the office.

Mrs. Ella May Belt and Miss Jean L. Palmer have already filed positions for the post left vacant by Harold A. Hise, who has announced that he will not seek re-election.

A Democrat, Mrs. Letha (Lee) Cruea, has also filed for the position.

Highfield, 414 Van Deman St., is presently serving his third term on the Washington C.H. Board of Education.

He is employed by Mark and Mustine Realtors of Washington C.H. and for 15 years had been chief clerk in charge of bookkeeping for a branch office of the Pure Oil Co. He also worked for a farm machinery sales company for four years.

The 43-year-old Highfield is on the Community Education Advisory Council and is a director of the Fayette County Shepherd's Club. He raises purebred Dorset sheep.

A member of the Fayette County Farm Bureau and the Grace United Methodist Church, Highfield is married to the former Linda Fredrick and is the father of five children.

and dairy producers associations, the Township Trustees and Clerks Association, and the Forest Shade Grange.

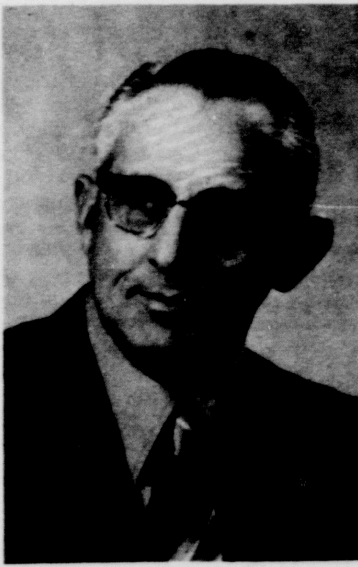

His wife, Grace teaches at the Fayette Progressive School, and their four children live at home. The eldest is a student nurse in Springfield while the other three attend school in the Miami Tace district.

The four Republicans will appear on the primary ballot June 8. The winner of the primary will face Mrs. Cruea in the general election Nov. 2.

The individual elected in November will take office the first Monday in Sept., 1977.

Democrats offer opposition for sheriff

Jerry A. Miko, 67, of 1800 U.S. 22-E, has begun his third bid to become sheriff of Fayette County.

The only Democrat to file petitions for the office before Thursday's 4 p.m. deadline, Miko will oppose incumbent Donald L. Thompson in the November election.

Twice previously, Miko has sought his party's nomination for office, but on both occasions, other Democratic candidates have emerged from the primary.

The owner-operator of Jerry's Tavern, U.S. 22-E, he came to Fayette County some 20 years ago. He once owned the Rainbow Gardens, CCC Highway-E, which is now the Club 22. He sold the establishment and purchased the tavern on U.S. 22.

A charter member of the Police and Sheriff's Association of North America, Miko had experience in law enforcement while residing in the Cleveland area.

JERRY MIKO

of World War II, he was recommended for espionage duty by his employer. He was also recommended for a U.S. Marshall's position by the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee chairman in 1960.

A former student of John Marshall Law School in Cleveland, Miko has 30 years experience in law enforcement and other related service, most of which came from employment in northern Ohio. He served as a special investigator for Portage County and was assigned to arrest a fugitive bank robber and attempted murder suspect which he did successfully.

Although he has been cited for liquor violations at the tavern, suspension of his license has never been imposed.

Miko notes that previous failures have not deterred him. Nixon lost several times before becoming President of the United States, he points out.

Ford-Reagan fight slated in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford has been conceded at least 15 Republican National Convention delegates from Ohio, but faces what promises to be a major fight with Ronald Reagan for the other 82.

Meanwhile, seven Democratic candidates and a host of favorite sons plan to slug it out in the June 8 primary election for Ohio's 152 Democratic convention delegates.

The candidates filed statewide slates for Ohio's primary election with the secretary of state's office here Thursday. Other delegate slates were filed in congressional districts around the state.

The surprise came from Reagan's campaign, which began its Ohio effort early this week. Reagan supporters filed a full slate of 28 delegates for at-large seats, plus district slates in 18 of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

In both parties, one-fourth of the convention delegates are elected on the statewide ballot, with the remaining three-fourths elected from the district slates.

A week ago, Reagan reportedly had written off Ohio's primary and conceded its 97 convention delegates to

License tag packets said faulty

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Agencies distributing license plates here say the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles has been supplying them with shipments of packets with not enough plates in them, too many plates in them and pairs of unmatched plates.

Five distributors now receiving plates with special-order reserve numbers say they have discovered more than 100 packets that can't be used.

One agency said it got 30 envelopes with one license plate inside, and about 10 envelopes containing unmatched plates.

Another agency said it found 18 sets of plates in the wrong envelopes, and even one packet containing three plates.

The Toledo Auto Club, sorting through 17,500 reserved number requests, said it has found 70 sets of plates with mixed numbers since it began doublechecking numbers on envelopes against their contents.

Curtis Andrews, motor vehicle registrar, said the errors were apparently undetected by quality control inspectors where the plates were made, the Lebanon Correctional Institution.

Director of industries at the institution, James Carter, said a high workload of 19 million plates and high turnover were causes of the problems. He said most of prison workers are first offenders and he estimated that 75 per cent of the workers have never held jobs outside the correctional unit.

Deaths, Funerals

Henry Estep

Friends here have learned of the death of Henry Estep of Salyersville, Ky., who died Wednesday.

Surviving is his wife, Laura; two sons, Joe of Salyersville, Ky., and Glenn, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling; four daughters, Mrs. Alta Borders, Rt. 5, Washington C. H., Mrs. Freda Garrison and Mrs. Ethel Groves, both of Lima, and Mrs. Loujean Patrick of Chelsea, Mich.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the State Road United Baptist Church, Salyersville, Ky., under the direction of the Caudill Funeral Home, Salyersville. Burial will be in Kentucky.

JAMES E. BELLAR — Services for James E. Bellar, 50, of 213 Green St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Ray Russell of First Christian Church officiating.

Mr. Bellar, a 25-year employee at Armco, died Monday.

Two hymns were sung by Mrs. Charles Moore with Mrs. Keith Wooley at the organ. The flag which draped the casket of the World War II U. S. Navy veteran, was folded by Henry Litz and Ben Paradise, of the Paul H. Hughes Post 25, American Legion, and presented to Mrs. Bellar.

Pallbearers for burial in Washington Cemetery were Steve Dalton, Mike Bellar, Arthur Carlson, Dale and Dale Alan Merritt, and Dwight Holloway.

Administration ups psychological war against Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is stepping up psychological warfare in an effort to deter further Cuban armed interventions but has refrained from any significant U.S. military preparations.

White House and Pentagon statements Thursday that contingency plans under review apparently were made to underscore Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's warning that "the United States will not accept further Cuban military interventions abroad."

The U.S. warnings come against the background of Cuba's backing of the triumphant faction in Angola and reports that Cuban troops still in Africa might aid efforts to topple Rhodesia's white minority regime.

But Pentagon officials say there has been no order to place any U.S. forces on alert or to move any U.S. military units in relation to Cuba.

A review of contingency plans is not particularly significant by itself. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have developed such plans for all foreseeable situations that might call for U.S. military involvement.

Since the 1962 crisis over the presence of Soviet offensive missiles in Cuba, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have prepared many contingency plans for use in event of a new confrontation with Fidel Castro. These plans are kept secret, but they probably run the gamut from a limited show of force to a naval blockade, then bombing and even an invasion of Cuba.

Democratic presidential contender Fred Harris said Thursday that "trusted sources" have told him the administration is planning to blockade Cuba if its troops engage in further intervention in Africa. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said he could not comment.

While Ford could order show-of-force actions such as ship and plane movements without congressional approval, the law requires the President to obtain formal congressional assent for any act of war.

A blockade, bombing or invasion of Cuba would be drastic steps carrying risk of confrontation with the Soviet Union.

During the Cuban crisis, President John F. Kennedy mustered about 340,000 troops, thousands of planes and hundreds of ships to back his demand that the Soviets remove their missiles from Cuba.

But the Vietnam war has resulted in congressional disenchantment with U.S. military interventions abroad. Only a few months ago, Congress ordered a halt in small-scale covert U.S. military aid to anti-Soviet factions in the Angolan civil war.

B'burg Lions sponsor sale

Both new and used items will be offered for sale and food will be available all day.

The sale is sponsored by the Bloomingburg Lions.

Callaghan favored in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary James Callaghan was still the favorite today in the race to succeed Prime Minister Harold Wilson after leading in the first round of voting by members of the ruling Labor party in the House of Commons.

Ballots for the second round of voting for the post of party leader were mailed Thursday night to the 314 Laborites voting. The result will be announced Tuesday. If one of the three men remaining in the race does not get a majority, a runoff will be held between the two high men.

Leftist Michael Foot led with 90 votes, and Callaghan, a middle-of-the-roader, was second with 84 in the results of the first mail ballot announced Thursday. But Foot's eventual defeat was indicated by the fact that the three candidates from the party's center and right wing totaled 170 votes, while the total for three leftwingers was 144.

Home Secretary Roy Jenkins, the leader of the party's right wing, ran third with 56 votes. Then came Energy Secretary Tony Benn, one of the party's most militant left-wingers, with 37; Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey, a moderate, 30, and Environment Secretary Anthony Crosland, another left-winger, 17.

As low man, Crosland was eliminated, and Benn and Jenkins also withdrew. This left Foot, Callaghan and Healey in the second round, with the race between the two moderates, Callaghan and Healey.

Ford, Reagan

Ford, Thursday's filings were the result of a statewide effort launched Monday night.

The five districts where Reagan did not file cost him three delegates each. Reagan may lose more delegates to Ford before the election as signatures on his petitions, supposedly registered Republicans, are subject to official scrutiny.

Reagan supporters conceded they were less careful than usual in gathering signatures because of the speed required. Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris, a Democratic presidential hopeful, loomed as the big loser in the Ohio filings.

Gloomy Harris supporters told Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that consent forms signed by Harris and required for the filing were lost by the airline carrying them to Ohio.

Brown accepted the petitions and a promise that the consent forms would follow shortly. But he warned that Harris' slate could be challenged for improper filing.

Stock list turns up

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned up today after its slide in profit-taking Thursday.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stock prices was ahead more than a point and New York Stock Exchange issues advancing in price held a slight lead on those declining.

Brokers had attributed Thursday's decline to investors cashing in on profits they accumulated in the first three days of the week, when the Dow jumped nearly 30 points.

The underlying mood, however, was still bullish, they said, because of continued reports that the economic recovery was showing more strength than expected.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the nation's money supply had dropped in the latest reporting week, a development that could relieve some investor worries concern over interest rates.

Early prices today included Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 to 43; General Motors, up 1/4 to 68 1/2; and American Telephone & Telegraph, off 1/4 to 56 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average declined 7.08 to 1,002.13.

Columbus woman Ohio millionaire

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shirley Goedeck of Columbus became the Ohio Lottery's eighth millionaire Thursday night, but she said she has no definite plans for her new-found fortune.

"I really don't think I need anything," said Mrs. Goedeck, a state government secretary. "I'm going to continue working; I would feel useless not working," she added.

One of the things she would like to do is to take a trip to France, said Mrs. Goedeck, a widow and the mother of 19-year-old twins, David and Diana, who are freshmen at Ohio State University.

As the lottery's top winner, Mrs. Goedeck, an employee of the State Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, will receive annual checks of $50,000 for 20 years.

She appeared stunned when she realized she was the big winner. "I kind of went blank when my number was drawn," she said. "I've never been very lucky."

The $100,000 winner was Lloyd McCaughin of Salem, a 59-year-old machinist and widower with four children. McCaughin indicated he wouldn't have any problem spending his winnings, saying he might use it "to retire, perhaps now."

Winning the $50,000 prize was Gloria Kukowicz of Toledo, 45, a widow and mother of a teenage daughter. Mrs. Kukowicz, a housekeeper at a Roman Catholic Church rectory, said she promised to take her daughter on vacation with part of her winnings.

A total of seven $10,000 prizes were won by: —Roger Fetter, 26, of Waldo, a stock clerk. —George Campbell, 40, of Painesville, an equipment operator. —Virgil Ross, 54, of Cambridge, a cemetery superintendent. —Sondra Dewey of West Milton, a housewife. —Theresa Williams of Eastlake, a housewife. —Herman Wigal of Beach Bottom, W.Va., retired. —Carl Bechtel, 47, of Mansfield, a printer.

Additional $1,000 prizes were won by Herbert Banton of Painesville, Andrew Bako of Youngstown, James Buccell of Canton, Edna Fiant of Delaware, Theodore Lowes of Logan, Alice Hoffman of Cleveland, Bruce Antebus of Union City, Ind., Charles DeGrisky of Oak Harbor and Donald Berry of Xenia.

Spencer man wins lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 23-year-old Spencer man who likes to fly and restore antique furniture won the top prize Thursday in the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 1,000 contest.

The winner, David Geisinger, will receive $1,000 a month for life and is guaranteed $400,000 dollars.

Hall of fame nominations sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nominations are being sought for the Ohio Agriculture Hall of Fame. This year's winners will be announced at the Ohio State Fair.

Ohio Agricultural Council president W. R. Tullis and Department of Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse said nominations will be accepted until May 1. Four persons will be honored, to be more than two of the awards to be made posthumously.

Geisinger is a production worker for Columbia Gas Company. He lives on his 95-acre family farm and restores furniture and has a student's pilot license. He said he plans to give some of his winnings to his church.

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said the other winners were: Barbara Cabala of Northfield Center, $10,000; Robert Fitzsimmons of Columbus, $7,500; Richard Meloy of Cuyahoga Falls, $5,000; Joyce Garner of Beachwood, $4,000; Stanley Polaniec of Ravenna, $3,000; David Bradom of Dayton, $2,000 and Agnes Repicky of Mentor, $1,000.

In the Buckeye 1,000, the winning six-digit number was 595417; the five-digit number was 95904; the four-digit number was 0019 and the three-digit number was 894. In the Spirit of '76 game, the six-digit number was 664413; the five-digit number was 23640 and the four-digit number was 7657. The liberty bell numbers were 62, 31, 37 and 65.

Now, he said, "the world is changed, and no longer is the businessman the sacred cow because he is a big advertiser."

Social Security payments slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Social Security Administration will soon begin paying up to $20 per day in supplements to about 500 eligible mentally retarded Ohioans.

Officials of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation said the supplements could amount to $750,000 per year statewide.

About 100 persons have applied to the state mental health department for the supplements, and another 400 applications are expected.

Before qualifying, an applicant must have a comprehensive evaluation and a habilitation plan must be established. Supplements, which will range from $3 to $20 per day, will cover specialized services not paid for by other funding sources.

Herion ring broken

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Operating from the safety of U.S. military bases in this country and Thailand, a syndicate led by Army and Air Force sergeants smuggled more than $300 million in pure heroin into this country on Air Force tanker planes, federal officials say.

The heroin was hidden in false bottoms attached to wooden tables and other furniture shipped from U Tapao Air force Base in Thailand as military baggage or was concealed in black AWOL bags — the small hand luggage carried by returning GIs.

That was the account given Thursday by officials here and in Washington after federal indictments were returned in Raleigh against 14 persons, most of them present or former military men, on charges of conspiring to import heroin.

The three-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury was made public after 11 of the defendants were arrested in a series of coordinated raids by military police, federal agents and local police. Three of those indicted were already in jail, one in this country and two in Thailand.

The heroin arrived via Strategic Air Command planes at Mather and Travis air force bases in California, Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C., and Langley Air Force Base, Va., officials said, and was soon on its way to the streets of New York and other major cities.

At least 220 pounds of heroin came into this country that way between August 1974 and last October when the operation began to fall apart, officials of the Justice Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration said.

But the syndicate had been operating since 1968 from the American Star Bar on Pittbury Road in Bangkok, and officials refused to say how much heroin the ring might have shipped into this country during that time.

Peter N. Bensinger, federal drug enforcement administrator, said in Washington that the demise of the syndicate would "have a major crippling impact on importation of heroin into the United States."

One of those indicted in the heroin conspiracy was Leslie "Ike" Atkinson, 50, a retired Army master sergeant from Goldsboro, N.C., who is serving a 19-year sentence in the federal prison in Atlanta on a previous conviction for importing heroin from Thailand.

The indictment said Atkinson had continued to run the operation from his prison cell with the help of his daughter, Leslie Sharon Atkinson Arrington, 24, and her husband, Michael Otis Arrington, 24, of Raleigh, both of whom were also indicted.

Among the others indicted were James Smeddley, 54, described as the procurer of heroin, and Jasper Myrick Jr., 23, of Montgomery, Ala., an alleged courier. Both are now serving terms in Kalang Prison in Bangkok.

Also named in the indictments, for allegedly serving as packers, couriers or mailers of heroin to other defendants in the United States were Freddie Clay Thornton, 40, Detroit; Rudolph Valentino Jennings, 49, Goldsboro, N.C.; William King Wright, 30, Washington; William Thomas, 42, Goldsboro; Monroe Lorenzo Martin Jr., 43, Long Beach, Calif.; Robert Ernest Patterson, 34, Hampton, Va.; William Kelly Brown, 38, Augusta, Ga.; James McArthur, 40, Fayetteville, N.C.; and Charles Murphy Gillis, 40, Goldsboro.

'America's Sweetheart' gets Oscar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I've had a wonderful life," says Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart" of silent films who will be honored next week with a special Oscar. "I'm grateful that I remember all the good things; the rest has been forgotten."

Miss Pickford, Hollywood's first superstar, will formally receive the award at Monday's Oscar ceremonies "in recognition of her unique contributions to the film industry and the development of film as an artistic medium."

The special Oscar, in fact, was actually presented last week when she appeared before a camera at Pickfair, her legendary hilltop mansion. Walter Mirisch, president of the Motion Picture Academy, presented the award, and a film of that presentation will be shown Monday night.

There had been speculation that she might appear at the awards, but she said Buddy Rogers, her husband, "won't let me go — he thinks it will be too much for me."

She has rarely left Pickfair in the last decade because of failing health. In-person interviews have not been allowed, but she does talk on the telephone — sometimes waveringly, but with her usual sprightliness.

"I know I sound like a frog, but I just woke up," she explained Thursday in such an interview.

Miss Pickford, who will be 83 on April 8, won an Oscar for best actress in "Coquette" 48 years ago. On that occasion, she recalled, "I nearly died of pleasure and fear." Concerning the latest award: "I'm amazed. I didn't know that people remembered me."

Our thing is Paint

It seems like everybody is doing his thing these days. Which is okay if the "thing" is done right. If not . . . then there's a real "hang-up" of one kind or another.

Take paint, for example. This highly specialized product is being sold by clerks in some stores who don't know which paint to recommend for the many kinds of surfaces paint is made for. Or how much paint is needed. Or what kind of brush or roller to use.

We could go on and on. But the point is . . . our "thing" is paint. And we know paint better than we know ourselves. Better (we believe) than any retailer in town.

So let's do our "thing" together the next time you paint. It's the thing to do if you want the right paint in the right amount at the right price.

Food stamp cutoff upheld

CINCINNATI (AP) — Federal and state regulations cutting off food stamps to persons receiving rent subsidies have been upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.
The appeal was filed by Louise Compton, 60, Knoxville, Tenn., whose food stamp allotment allowing her to purchase $82 worth of food for $29 was cut off by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture under rules set up by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Compton's only source of income is $146 monthly from Social Security plus $44 contributed by her son. She pays rent of $55 and receives a rent subsidy of $127 per month from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, court records show.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you've been wondering what it is they call the Texas brand of country-rock music, take a gander tonight at public television's "Austin City Limits." It's a good example.

It features singer-composer Jerry Jeff Walker, a New York-born exponent of Lone Sta country-rock, and the Lost Gonzo Band, six lads who sing and play acoustic guitar, electric guitar, bass, drums, organ and piano.

(Check your TV listings to be sure the show is playing in your area tonight, when the Public Broadcasting Service is feeding it to most PBS stations. Some may elect to air it on another evening.)

The program is a straightforward hour of music, 12 tunes sung before a young, enthusiastic studio audience with virtually no between-songs chatter by the performers.

The proceedings start imaginatively, with tuning-up sounds and audio-level checks heard as we see videotaped sights of the Austin area — dusty country roads and shots of such saloons as "The Texas Opry House," where Austin music folks are wont to sneer at the more establishment kind of country music offered in Nashville.

Then it's back to the studio, where the Lost Gonzo boys start things going with "Dead Armadillo," which sounds awfully close to a swing-style number of the 1930s, and a slow pop piece called "Railroad Man."

A subsequent tune, which takes a woeful walk down a country mode, isn't too interesting, but I dug the title, "The Last Thing I Needed the First Thing This Morning was to Have You Walk Out on Me."

Although billed as the headliner, Walker doesn't check in until about 15 minutes into the show, arriving with his shirttail out, strumming a beat-up old guitar and joining the Gonzo gang midway through their hit "London Homesick Blues."

If you've never heard Walker, he sings in a boozy baritone and at times slurs his words so much you'll have trouble understanding the lyrics of "Mr. Bojangles," a nifty tune he wrote in the 1960s.

But he and the Gonzo troops have a relaxed, friendly approach that is mighty appealing. The only problem is that Texas country-rock just seems too confined in a studio.

Protection for porpoises

From ancient times, the porpoise has enjoyed affectionate regard. This has been enhanced in our time by studies emphasizing the almost human qualities of this sportive creature. These warm feelings deepened the shock of learning that many porpoises were inadvertently being killed by tuna fishermen.

The sea mammals get caught in large-mesh nets. Great numbers of them, unable to free themselves, drown. The National Marine Fisheries Service has been trying to devise practicable ways to reduce the slaughter.

Happily, there has been progress in these efforts. The government's Southwest Fisheries Center at La Jolla, Cal., reports that in one test of special fishing gear there was a tenfold decrease in porpoise mortality as compared with the average for the American tuna fleet.

The results are not yet conclusive; there must be more extensive testing. But there is sound reason, now, to hope that methods of protecting the porpoises without impairing the tuna industry will soon be in operation.

LOCAL VIEWPOINT...By George Malek

Municipal Court's function

Revenue from Washington C.H. Municipal Court has run some 35 per cent lower in the first two months of 1976 than it was for the same period in 1975.

As a result, Judge Robert L. Simpson, who took office Jan. 1, has received some criticism.

Taxpayers who face a half per cent income tax beginning next week and three property tax levies in June note that anticipated court revenue had been set at $140,000 for this year. If the 35 per cent reduction continues, the city's share of revenue from Municipal Court would be only $90,000.

This drop of $50,000 below the projected city income is part (a small part) of the city's financial difficulty.

Law-enforcement officers have reportedly been upset by the fact that some sentences meted by Judge Simpson have seemed somewhat lenient.

It should be understood, however, that the purpose of Municipal Court is not to finance city operation, nor to keep law-enforcement happy.

The purpose of Municipal Court is to deter crime through the imposition appropriate of fines and sentences. What is appropriate, is a matter of individual judgment based on a knowledge of law and circumstances surrounding each case.

The manner in which a violation has arisen must be considered. If someone drives off the highway because he reached for a child crawling out the window, the fine might be quite different from that imposed on someone who tried to negotiate a 35 mile per hour curve at a speed of 55.

The responsibility for determining fact from fiction and weighing the evidence is what the voters entrusted to the judge when elected. He is an experienced professional. Although he (and everyone else) will occasionally err, his background in law assures area residents that he will make less mistakes than they would in the same circumstances.

Suspended fines and jail terms are commonly used by Judge Simpson. Their purpose is to warn the offender of the seriousness of his offense. They are not paid and forgotten, but loom over the offender as a continuing reminder of his visit to court. They stand as a deterrent to a repeat appearance in court.

If repeat offenders where to appear in court and not have their previously suspended fines reimposed, the judge would seem negligent in his duties. This does not appear to have been the case, however.

Judge Simpson has been "tough" with repeat offenders. He has meted jail terms and reimposed suspended sentences.

While he has been lenient with first offenders, he has in the majority of cases imposed much stiffer penalties on those who refuse to heed his initial warnings.

Since the sole purpose of Municipal Court is to deter crime, if suspended sentences can effectively be used to stop the offender from repeating his mistake, it would seem that the court has accomplished its purpose.

While the present reduction in revenue is easily calculated, the true test of the court's effectiveness cannot yet be measured. Only a long-range look at the number of repeat offenders will allow such an assessment.

For those who are especially concerned with the financial considerations, it should be noted the reduction of the police department's patrolling capacity by two men has lowered the number of traffic cases presented to the court, and these cases produce the greatest percentage of revenue.

It is also important to add that when repeat offenders begin reappearing in court for second and third offenses, the court revenue is likely to increase.

If revenue remains low because these people are not returned for subsequent offenses, it will be a tribute to Judge Simpson's methods, not a cause for criticism.

Editor's mailbox

EDITOR, Record-Herald: Medical associations are implementing their definition of death. They do not want a state law. We over esteem the medical professions as we do the legal and other professions. The world of scientific jargon overwhelms us. We accept the professional's conduct without question. That is not in our best interest.

The scientific method is only for the classroom. In actual practice, the professions labor under the same narrow and closed mind inhibitions that limit all of us. We should not permit the medical doctors to devise their own rules. The choice must be ours.

We should speak our opinions to legislators that are asking for our help. We might regret remaining silent. We cannot rely on religious leaders to speak for us in the area of defining death.

The Quinlan case resulted in the family's priest favoring termination of life. I fail to reconcile that decision of ending life with the same church's prohibition against taking a life in abortion.

Life is not ours to terminate. We should shudder in terror to contemplate the course that could follow if we grant a mere human with authority to decide life and death. "Consignment to the grave rather than extraordinary life saving attempts may be the most humane choice in coping with the tragic birth of a severely handicapped child," says Yale University Pediatrician Dr. Raymond S. Duff.

That type of professional thinking is dangerous. There is a loud noise in the land about death with dignity. What about life with dignity?

Bigger ballot type

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elderly and other Ohioans who have trouble reading fine print would have a better chance of understanding proposed constitutional amendments under a bill making its way through the legislature, sponsors say.

The bill would halt the practice of putting the proposals into 4-point type, or even smaller, and require instead that the explanations be in at least 10-point type, under a headline of at least 30 points.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, also would require in his bill—which received 24-6 Senate approval earlier this week—that the package would have to be enclosed in a black border setting it off from the remainder of a newspaper's classified or legal advertising content.

The Mahoning County lawmaker, urging passage in the Senate, displayed an entire newspaper page of fine print that was used last fall to fulfill a requirement for publication of ballot issues.

"This is in type so small that even those persons with a magnifying glass would have trouble finding out what those (nine) issues were all about," he said. The senator said that while the page came from his hometown newspaper "it was much the same all over the state."

Meshel said the cost of his proposal would be negligible statewide. He estimated that putting the explanations into so-called display (as opposed to classified) ads would have hiked last fall's costs from about $230,000 to about $322,000.

He recalled that a few years ago, the legislature abandoned its former requirement that pamphlets containing the ballot issue explanations be sent to all of the state's voters. "We did it to save about $500,000 a year, but we turned out to be penny wise and pound foolish," he said.

The senators said he was convinced that many voters rejected Gov. James A. Rhodes' four-part ballot package last November because they didn't understand it "the merits of the issues notwithstanding." He said he believes many failed to be convinced of the merits of the proposals on the basis of privately financed, commercial-oriented media campaigns.

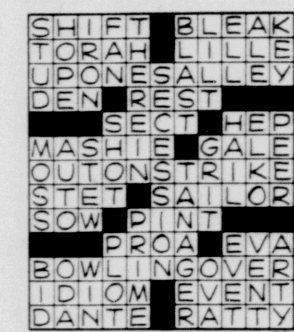

When the state discontinued the ballot pamphlets, which were mailed to voters, it created at the same time the Ohio Ballot Board which is assigned the task of devising understandable language to explain issues in a new type of pamphlet available to voters when they reach the polls. Meshel claims voters need time to study them beforehand.

He stressed that his bill does nothing to increase rates charged by newspapers, other than requiring extra space. He said the legislation was supported by the Ohio Newspaper Association and by at least five newspapers he contacted personally, including two in Columbus and three in other cities.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Love holds together interfaith marriage

DEAR ABBY: About that Protestant mother who was upset because her son married a Catholic girl:

I also came from a strict Catholic family. The girl I fell in love with was the daughter of a Methodist minister. When we made plans to marry, my folks and all the relatives made an awful fuss. Added to their objections was the fact my lady love had a Jewish ancestor way back in her family.

Regardless of all their objections, we went ahead and got married. None of my people came to the wedding. They also cut me out of their will. I could not have cared less.

My wife and I are both in our 80s and have celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary.

We have wonderful sons, daughters and grandchildren and have always made them feel free to marry whomever they wanted, regardless of religion.

The Lord must have approved of our marriage or He wouldn't have blessed us with such a long and happy one.

BROAD—MINDED IN MPLS.

DEAR BROAD—MINDED: Three cheers for an interfaith marriage that let love overcome religious nitpicking.

DEAR ABBY: Please print your answer so my husband will see it.

What do you think of a 28-year-old man who has been married for seven years and who tells all his friends at work EXACTLY what happened in his bedroom the night before?

We have always had a wonderful sex life, which keeps getting better every year. But since I caught wind of this, I feel cheap.

When I questioned my husband about it, he denied saying anything, but from the things that have come back to me, I know that he has been talking plenty. (The wife of one of his buddies gets all the details from her husband, and she tells me.)

If my husband doesn't get over these high school habits, I'm afraid it will be the end of our sex life. Help me.

OPEN BOOK IN MICHIGAN

DEAR OPEN: Tell your husband that you KNOW he has been babbling at work about your intimate relations, and if he doesn't keep his big mouth shut, he's not going to have anything to talk about!

DEAR ABBY: I have a backyard neighbor who has been watching me for the last two years. I thought perhaps he wanted to be friendly, but when I see him on the street, he turns his head.

He has a 9 to 5 job and is home on weekends. Every time I look out of my back window I see him in his backyard, staring at my back door, waiting for me to appear.

He has driven past my home several times, slowing up to look. Even the neighbors have mentioned it.

He is married, but I seldom see his wife. We have never spoken to each other, either, but I'm sure she knows that I am her neighbor. My husband and I don't want to cause any trouble as we plan on living in this neighborhood for a long time, but this man gives me the creeps.

Do you think I should go to the police? He really hasn't done anything except stare at my back door and drive around my house.

Should I initiate a conversation with this man or perhaps talk to his wife? Please help me.

FRIGHTENED
DEAR FRIGHTENED: You may be unjustifiably suspicious, or you may have a point. While with your husband, initiate a friendly conversation with this neighbor. His reaction should tell you something.

Panther wrestlers honored at annual awards banquet

Miami Trace High School honored its 1975-76 wrestling team Thursday night at the annual awards banquet.

Three Panther grapplers, senior co-captains Jay Crummy and Kurt Klontz along with sophomore Scott Martin, received special trophies for their performances on the mats this year.

Crummy, who despite illness posted a very impressive 14-2 season record, was voted the team's most valuable wrestler by team members for the second consecutive year. He also received a share of the annual pin trophy given to the wrestler with the highest number of pins for the season.

Both Crummy and Klontz registered seven pins apiece to share the award.

Crummy's pin total was half of his win total which means every other time the Panther senior took the mat the match ended before the allotted six-minute time limit had expired.

Sophomores Randy Slutz and John Burr also had high pin totals. Slutz registered five and Burr in his first year had six pins.

Martin took the most improved wrestler award by registering a 20-7 record—the most wins on the team—compared to last year's 6-8 mark.

Crummy and Klontz also received senior award trophies along with South Central Ohio League champion Kirk Stuckey, Jeff Creamer and Herb Smith.

Martin, Burr and Slutz received varsity letters along with the seniors and eight other Panthers: Rick Ward, Mike Dunton, Bruce Fennig, Chris Garland, Jim Stuckey, Dave Hennessy, Shawn Riley and Chris Schlichter. Manager Ron Woodrow also received a letter.

Reserve coach Roger Dunton presented 11 reserve awards. They went to Doug Merritt, Marc Miramonte, Don McKeever, Mike Dennis, Todd Anderson, Joe Garland, Mike Camstra, Randy Hinkley, Eric Crabtree, Randy Sams and Mike Hill.

The past season was termed "successful" by coach Glenn Jacobson as this team set a school record by qualifying the most (four) wrestlers for district competition. The efforts of the past season also added four names to the list of Panther SCOL champions as Martin, Klontz, Kirk Stuckey and Jay Crummy accomplished the feat.

Cain Slays Abel

Cain was very wroth . . . and it came to pass . . . that (he) rose up against Abel, his brother, and slew him. — Genesis 4: 5-8

Cain and Abel labored at their respective tasks—Cain as a farmer, Abel as a shepherd—until the day came when they were to offer the first fruits of their toil to the Lord, who kept an ever watchful eye upon them. According to the Scriptures, Abel brought the firstlings of his flock; Cain, the products of the earth. God, we are told, was pleased with Abel's offering, but had no "respect" for Cain's. From then on, Cain was fired with an all-consuming jealousy of his brother. And a day came when, as both labored in the fields, Cain, unable to control his feelings any longer, rose up and killed him. Later the Lord appeared, asking the whereabouts of Abel, and Cain answered: "Am I my brother's keeper?"—words which have been echoed over and over down through the ages.

Persecution continues

Reports received from eyewitnesses tell of widespread persecution of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout Malawi during September and October, 1975. Members of the religious order have been beaten, raped, robbed, driven from their homes, and publicly abused by Malawi Congress Party members and government officials. Parents have been forcibly separated from young children, even infants, and placed in detention.

From the Malawian government's point of view, the issue concerns burying the Malawi Congress Party card, which bears the picture of Dr. H. Kamuzu Banda, Life President of the Country. Without this Jehovah's Witnesses in many areas are not allowed to buy food, draw water from wells, live in homes or even have police protection.

From the point of view of Jehovah's Witnesses in the country, about 30,000 adults and children, the issue is one of religion and conscience, respect for which Malawi, as a member of the United Nations, avows. Jesus said in the Holy Bible, (John 17:16) concerning his followers: "They are no part of the world, just as I am no part of the world." Following this belief, Jehovah's Witnesses refuse to become members of the Malawi Congress Party or any other political party, but insist on a politically neutral stand. This position has caused problems for them in many parts of the world.

Nonetheless, they are generally recognized as model citizens. They seek to obey the law, and pay their taxes, but refuse to have anything to do with membership in a political party, putting their faith instead in a heavenly government by Jehovah God.

The issue became critical in Malawi when, in September 1972, the Malawi Congress Party adopted a series of resolutions aimed at Jehovah's Witnesses, which resolved that those employed in commerce, industry, and by the government be dismissed.

The Young Pioneers, a political youth group, were used to enforce this decree against all persons known to be Jehovah's Witnesses in Malawi. As reported by The World in Johannesburg, October 12, 1972, the party's youth began systematically beating up and otherwise intimidating members of the banned Jehovah's Witnesses sect who refused to buy cards because of their creed.

About 19,000 of Jehovah's Witnesses fled to Zambia in the fall of 1972 where Dr. Hugo Idoyaga, United Nations High Commission representative, reported, "Many of the refugees bore cuts and gashes apparently inflicted by pangas, the huge knives common to East Africa." After conferences between a Zambia government spokesman and the Malawi Government, the refugees were repatriated, only to face continued abuse and harassment.

From Malawi they fled to Mozambique where over 34,000 were kindly cared for in refugee camps by government administrators and by members of their own faith. They were provided with food and clothing during the next few years.

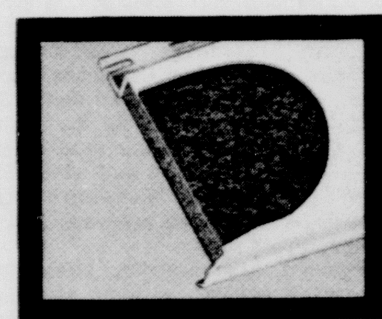

However, with the 1975 change in the Mozambique government pressures against Jehovah's Witnesses began anew as all the people were called upon to take sides politically by shouting political slogans and signing political songs. President Samora Machel, according to the Rhodesia Herald, October 11, 1975, "warned the Jehovah's Witness sect in Mozambique that it must obey Government directives." Religious freedom appeared to dissolve in that country also! In fact, beginning on August 19, 1975, Witnesses began to be repatriated to Malawi.

Soon the Malawi Young Pioneers and members of the League of Malawi Youth renewed their attacks against the Witnesses. Beatings and harassment of Jehovah's Witnesses in Malawi continue.

Otterbein College founded by the United Brethren Church, and Oberlin College founded by Congregationalists in 1833, had several things in common. Both Ohio schools were centers of antislavery feeling and they were the first coed colleges in the world.

Polks to observe anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sampson Polk of Ohio Rt. 72, near Sabina, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Home Federal community room in Wilmington.

The reception is being given by their daughter, Mrs. Vivian Ewing of Wilmington, and their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Polk of Blanchester, and Mr. and Mrs.

James Polk of Washington C.H. Miss Esta Storer and Mr. Polk, both of Sabina, were married March 25, 1926, in the Wilmington Church of Christ by the Rev. Brown. They have resided all their married lives in the Sabina community. Mr. Polk is retired from farming.

The couple requests that gifts be omitted.

Homemakers meet in the home of Mrs. Thornton

Mrs. Don Thornton was hostess for the March meeting of the Bloomingburg Wednesday Club, when Mrs. Laurence Garinger opened the meeting with the poem, "Good Morning."

Mrs. Fred Oswald, secretary, read minutes of the previous meeting and a report of flowers sent to Mrs. Ewing Fichtorn, a member who is recuperating from a heart attack, was made. Cards for other ill members were signed.

"Foolish Intentions and Foolish Answers" was the topic presented by Mrs. Garinger, president. Mrs. Oswald also read the poem "St. Patrick's Day," written by the late Mr. Frank Grubbs. "Every Dream" was read by Mrs. Garinger.

Refreshments were served from the dining room table by the hostess to Mrs. Forest Hains, Mrs. Harry Elliott, Mrs. Martin Morris, Mrs. Garinger and Mrs. Oswald.

"YOU CAN DO IT!"

"Homemakers can repair even serious-looking wall damage," according to television hostess Cindy Kidwell of the "You Can Do It!" series, seen locally each Tuesday at 7:00 P.M. on Cable TV, Channel 8.

This week's program, "The Great Coverup," will teach viewers how to repair walls with cracks, holes or missing plaster.

Also, it will discuss techniques for fastening things to walls.

The 9-part "You Can Do It!" educational series for local do-it-yourselfers is sponsored by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service.

It was created and produced by home economics specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, through a special United States Department of Agriculture grant.

Next week's program, "Paint It Yourself," will feature house interiors.

TIME TO START

YOUR VEGETABLE GARDEN

Several vegetable crops develop their best quality during the cool weather of spring. These include radishes, green onions, beets, carrots, leaf lettuce, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, Swiss chard, and peas. Two perennial vegetables to plant now—and enjoy for many years—are asparagus and rhubarb.

In your eagerness to start gardening, be careful not to work the soil when it's too wet. Soil that's worked too wet will be cloddy and hard to handle all season long. To test, squeeze a handful of soil. If you can press the soil into a ball, delay spading. If the soil crumbles freely when you release the pressure, it's ready to work.

A soil test will help you know how much and what kind of fertilizer to use. Your county Extension office can give you more information about soil test. Do call us (335-1150) for details. Fertilizer is expensive this year—you'll want to use exactly what's needed and no more.

The structure of heavy soils is greatly improved by adding organic matter. If possible, cover the garden area with several inches of peat moss, compost, sawdust, manure, or other organic material and work it into the top layer of soil.

WAYNE PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

State Highway Patrolman Schafer spoke at the Wayne Progressive Farmers meeting at Wayne Hall recently. The meeting was called to order by Jeff Wilt, president, when a discussion about the Fish Fry and a program committee was chosen. Members are: Debbie Creameans, Mark Rife, Marilyn Seifried, and Jeff Wilt. Final plans were made for the trip to the Ohio State Vet Clinic, and Tricia Johnson announced the statewide safety poster contest which is in March. Topics for the contest are water safety and summer safety.

The club was urged to attend the upcoming events, the state sale and show in Springfield, the Duroc state sale and show at the Ohio State Fairgrounds and the Dorset show and sale at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Following the meeting, Patrolman Schafer pointed out to the young members of the club about mini-bike safety. He also talked about the car, farm and bicycle safety.

The club will meet on Friday, in Wayne Hall. Refreshments were served.

200 YEARS OF FASHION — Two of the gowns to be worn at the Fashion Show and Tea at 4 p.m. April 4 at Mahan Hall are shown in Steen's store window. Styles date back 200 years, and all proceeds from the show will go towards the Creative Living project for the handicapped.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION — A numerous collection of dresses and accessories have been acquired by a Bicentennial committee for the Fashion Show and Tea to be held at 4 p.m. April 4. All pieces are authentic, and will represent "200 years of fashion."

Fashions of Yesteryear—Custom-made only

What if one had to have her own little dressmaker? What if women couldn't go into a store in Washington C.H. or Columbus or Cincinnati and find a ready-made dress that they could wear that very day or evening? What if there were NO ready-made dresses? What if one had to plan far ahead for clothes by choosing non-standardized-size dress patterns, choosing one's own yard goods and booking time with a seamstress or planning time to be one's own seamstress? This was the case in the early 1900's in the towns and cities of the United States.

In those days—as in French cities, even Paris, as late as the 1950's—one had to arrange time with a seamstress who copied with modest or sometimes exquisite skill those pictures seen in the "Delineator", "The Ladies' Home Journal", and other monthly style publications who took their lead from Paris across the broad Atlantic. These magazines were not in each and every home but were preciously loaned around.

Older women in this community with memories dating back to the early days of the century tell of an exceptional modiste formerly in Washington C.H., Mrs. Katherine Fortier, who for many years maintained a suite or rooms in the Masonic Temple building above what is now Steen's Department Store. There she employed five or six skilled young seamstresses. Several times a year she made trips by train to New York City to buy fine materials, trimmings, and accessories for her customers. Some of the gowns worn in the "Milady's Fashions for Over 200 Years Show" to be presented at Mahan Hall on April 4 are the creations of Mrs. Fortier. Today, Steen's Department Store is displaying some of the modish fashion creations of Mrs. Fortier's heyday.

The full collection of fashions of the Bicentennial past will be modeled at the Fashion Show and Tea on April 4 at 4 p.m. at Mahan Hall. Reservations may be made and tickets acquired through the Chamber of Commerce, or with Mrs. Louis Baer, Mrs. Robert Hagerty, Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee and Mrs. Suzanne Sams—and on Friday afternoons of March 26 and April 2 at the Huntington Bank.

SILLY STITCHERS

The Silly Stitchers 4-H Club met at the Jeffersonville School, March 9, 1976. The meeting was called to order by Sandy Sams, vice president, in absence of the president. The Pledge of Allegiance and 4-H Pledge was led by Pam Pitzer. Fourteen member answered roll call by giving a safety rule. The secretary's minutes were read by Deneen Steen in absence of Teresa Keim. Anita Webb, safety officer, read a report on "Treatment of Shock". Susie Valentine gave a talk on "Recycling, A Way to Get Rid of Junk".

Sandy Sams, fair booth chairman, gave a report on the upcoming 1976 fair booth. An outdoor garden theme will be used for the booth. She asked various members for articles and help. The community projects this year will be a "Clean Up Jeff" day and Cancer Fund drive.

The Club voted on a second money making project. They will hold a car wash one day in May. Candy kits were given to all members to sell.

Three different educational trips have been planned for the club. One will be touring Pennington Bread and Cudahy Foods Co. Sandy Sams will contact these businesses for dates. Plans were also made to visit the Ohio Natural Museum in Columbus.

Sandy Sams gave a demonstration on "Preparing Pattern for Projects". Also included in this was a discussion on the pattern instruction sheets.

The next meeting was held at Jeffersonville School on Tuesday and Toyia Smith and Angela Stires served refreshments.

After the meeting was adjourned, Deneen Steen and Cindy Sams served the club refreshments. Angela Stires was recreation leader.

AP Newsfeatures

Did you know there's a wealth of free entertainment and instruction available for groups who need interesting programs to enliven meetings?

If you're a camera club program chairman, a scout leader, a member or official of a church, school or civil organization, then it could concern you.

Films and slide shows about photography, travel, sports, the environment and flowers could provide a welcome interlude in any group's regular or special meeting.

The programs are loaned to each group by prior reservation and must be returned promptly after showing. One condition is that they be shown to members or an audience without charge for admission. The material in the programs is copyrighted and may not be duplicated, published or used commercially in any way.

What we're talking about is "Your Programs from Kodak — 1976," a new catalog listing about 50 films and slide shows from which selections can be made. Each item in the listing describes the subject matter, type of show and running time. For a copy of the catalog, write to: Eastman Kodak Co., Photo Information Dept. 841, Rochester, N.Y. 14650. Ask for program catalog AT-1.

JOIN THE PARADE! Groups can make meetings more interesting this bicentennial year by requesting the free loan of movie and slide programs, with a choice of more than 50 informative, inspirational or entertaining shows.

The movies are either 16mm color optical-sound films or super 8mm color magnetic-sound films. The slide show packages contain 2 x 2 inch slides, a script and a tape recording of the script.

Your group must have for the movie programs a 16mm optical-sound projector or a super 8 magnetic-sound projector set for 24 frames per second. For the slide programs, you need a projector for 2 x 2-inch slides and a cassette tape player or a tape recorder capable of playing at 3 3/4 or 7 1/2 inches per second. An automatic Carousel slide projector is recommended.

It's also a good idea to have a spare projection lamp handy for the slide and movie projector and a spare exciter lamp for the optical-sound movie projector. Lamps do burn out without warning and the spare lamps enable the show to continue with only a small delay.

The best position for a projector is on a sturdy stand high enough to project over the heads of the audience. This eliminates the need for a middle aisle and provides more seats in the best viewing area — the center.

A 5-foot-wide screen is generally adequate for an audience between 50 to 60 people. A larger audience and larger room require a larger screen. For more detailed information on screen requirements, write to Department 841, same address, for pamphlet S-3 on "Audiovisual Projection."

The catalog includes a request order form which must be filled in and mailed to Kodak's Audio-Visual Library Distribution Department for filling. The order request is acknowledged. At least 4 weeks' notice is normally required before a meeting and this may stretch to between 8 and 12 weeks during the busy fall and winter months. Programs are sent to arrive two days before the scheduled meeting date.

The programs are sent in a special container with labels and other packaging materials enclosed. Movie reels should be rewound onto their original reels after a show. If two or more programs are ordered, care must be taken to pack each show in its proper container. There's a return shipping label which facilitates the handling of sending back programs. And it's the group's responsibility to pay the return postage including insurance in the amount of $50 value.

It's almost worthwhile to start a camera club to receive such informative and entertaining programs.

Golden wedding anniversary observed by Mr. and Mrs. Black

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Black of 2437 Staunton-Sugar Grove Rd., were honored recently at a dinner at Anderson's Restaurant, by members of their family. The group then motored to the Black home for visiting and homemade ice cream and cake, decorated for the occasion, and punch. The occasion was their golden wedding anniversary.

Those in the group besides Mr. and Mrs. Black were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lusher of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoppes of Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Armbrust, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Black and sons Randy and Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black and sons, Joe and Jon, all of Washington C.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Black were married March 20, 1926, in Cambridge.

Cooks want recipe for Kolacky

OLD-FASHIONED LARDER — Kolacky are at the left on the top shelf in this photograph from a new cookbook, "Better Homes and Gardens Home-Style Cooking."

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

DEAR CECILY: I enjoy your wonderful recipes. Wonder if you could whip up one for Kolacky — MIDWEST.

DEAR MIDWEST: I'm glad you asked about Kolacky (also spelled Kolache) because recently another reader complained that I have not written about these yeast buns with their fruit filling in a long time! The following recipe is one I have tried and am happy to recommend.

PRUNE KOLACKY

3½ to 4¼ cups all-purpose flour
1 package active dry yeast
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup milk
1-3rd cup sugar
1-3rd cup shortening
2 eggs
Prune Filling, see below
In large mixing bowl combine 2 cups of the flour, yeast, peel, and nutmeg. Heat milk, sugar, shortening, and 1 teaspoon salt just till warm (115-120 degrees), stirring constantly. Add to dry mixture; add eggs. Beat at low speed of electric mixer ½ minute; scrape sides of bowl constantly. Beat 3 minutes at high speed. Stir in 1¼ to 1¾ cups flour to make a moderately soft dough. On floured surface knead in remaining ¼ to ½ cup flour; knead till smooth and elastic (5 to 8 minutes). Place in greased bowl; turn to grease surface. Cover; let rise till double (about 2 hours). Punch down; divide in half. Cover; let rest 10 minutes.

Shape each half into 12 balls; place 3 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Flatten each to 3-inch diameter. Cover; let rise till double (about 1 hour). Make depression in center of each; fill with Prune Filling. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 24.

Prune filling: Place 1½ cups dried prunes in saucepan with water to cover by 1 inch. Cover; bring to boiling. Simmer 25 to 30 minutes. Drain, pit, and chop; stir in ¼ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon.

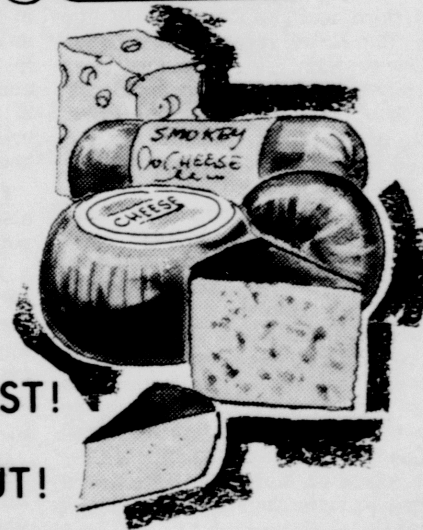

This recipe is from "Better Homes and Gardens Home-Style Cooking" (Meredith, 1975) $2.95

House votes plan of self-insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House voted 89-0 Thursday to authorize the state to self insure its motor vehicles, aircraft and watercraft against liability claims.

But the state Department of Transportation grounded its 8,000 vehicles Thursday rather than operate under the plan. The department is looking for a new insurer to handle its expired liability policy.

"The bill will permit the state to cover its own employees during the time they are actually working for the State of Ohio," said sponsor William Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia.

The bill was sent to the Senate where Hinig predicted prompt action.

The Tuscarawas County lawmaker described the legislation as a "stopgap measure that will remain in effect only through July 1, 1977."

In the meantime, he said, the legislature would approve a more comprehensive bill.

Under the bill being considered, each state agency would set aside a reserve fund equal to premium payments under old insurance policies to pay any claims resulting from mishaps involving state vehicles.

A recent opinion by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown said the state could not legally insure itself. The bill would change that, authorizing in law state self insurance.

About 14,000 state vehicles used to be covered by a liability policy, but when the policy expired Jan. 1, officials found renewal costs too high. About 6,000 vehicles, including aircraft and boats, were not covered by the policy which expired.

Highway Patrol vehicles were placed under an emergency liability policy when the old policy expired.

The transportation department is seeking a similar arrangement, since workers expressed concern over possible lapses in coverage under the self insurance plan.

The emergency plan was expected to be obtained sometime today, according to Transportation Director Richard Jackson.

While the department is waiting for that policy to be signed, Jackson ordered his department's vehicles grounded except for emergency travel.

Decorating Depot opens

Ambassadors from the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce took part in a ribbon cutting ceremony this morning to designate the official opening of John E. Dunn's Decorating

Depot located at 201 S. Main St., in the old railroad depot.

"We are a high quality store, and we will give our customer's good service," Dunn stated. Prior to the opening of his own business, Dunn worked in the home furnishings department at Steen's for nine years. He felt that there was a definite need for this type of shop in Washington C.H.

Dunn's Decorating Depot, which will be open 9:30-5 Monday Through Thursday and on Saturdays and 9:30-8:30 on Fridays, is a carpet and decorating store.

Dunn, who is a life-long resident of Washington C.H., and his wife, Carol, will operate the business. The couple lives at 267 Carolyn Rd., and have two children.

Bicentennial meeting held

The Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee resulted in group agreement on a fundamental problem.

The group, composed of representatives from various business and civic organizations came to the conclusion that more public input is needed to make the county celebrations a success.

The committee has been meeting regularly for several months at 4:30 p.m. every Tuesday in the Area Chamber of commerce office. Meetings are opened to everyone who may have useful ideas for upcoming bicentennial activities.

At present, the committee is working on several projects for bicentennial celebrations.

Relocation of the Eyman log house and the movement of Civil War memorial plaques to the courthouse were the chief projects discussed during Tuesday's meeting. Both projects are reportedly moving along well. Ora Burdge, activities chairman, stated that the plaque relocation may be completed by Memorial Day.

Helen Slavens, representing Altrusa, announced that a tour of historical sites in Fayette County is being organized by the group. Though the project is still in the planning stages, it "promises to be both interesting and informative."

In regard to the potential success of the committee's endeavors, publicity chairman Bill Pool stated, "We need the ideas and resources of many more people if we hope to realize the kind of bicentennial celebration all the residents of Fayette County deserve."

Rubbish fire

The Washington C.H. Fire Department doused a 5:56 p.m. rubbish fire located at 721 Campbell Street.

Woman doesn't want to see what she saw

An indecent exposure report was checked by Washington C.H. police officers.

Darlene Leisure, 1104 E. Paint St., reported that as she and her son were in their rear yard Thursday afternoon, a male subject, who was reportedly identified, exposed himself to their view. Charges are expected to be filed in the case.

Sarah A. Wright, 10, of 634 Albin Ave., was in the process of hugging a sleeping dog situated in front of 936 Millwood Ave. The dog awoke, apparently startled, and bit the girl on the cheek and area of right eye.

She was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital at 6 p.m. treated with a tetanus shot, and released.

A 15-year-old Washington C.H. girl

was taken to the hospital Thursday after reportedly taking too many perscription pills. She was treated and released.

Laurel Oaks does well in district competition

Laurel Oaks students brought home many honors for outstanding performances in their fields recently as a result of the Great Oaks Joint Vocational School District contest in the VICA Skill Olympics held at Scarlet Oaks.

The students participated in approximately 18 different contests, and took six first place awards. First place winners were: auto body, Tim Dolph; construction electricity, Tom Shaw; mobile homes, Tom Root; job interview, Debbie Young; and members of the parliamentary procedure team, Nancy Sword, Linda Hickey, Jay Groves, John Betz, Russ Beatty, Tom Alexander, Dave Taylor, and Roy Wilson.

First place winners from Fayette County were Alan Holbrook in masonry, and Nancy Hodge, a member of parliamentary procedure team.

Other awards were: masonry: Rick Wright, second; Mark Ford, third, and Tim Crum, fourth auto body; Ron Rowe, second; construction electricity; Sam Trerrell, second, Alan Overbey, fourth, and Chester Blackwell, fifth; machine trades; Jeff Reese, third, and Milford Beachy, fourth; Mobile Homes; Pata Horning, second, and Jeff Hudson, third.

The first place winners and Jeff Reese, a third place winner, will represent Great Oaks in the Regional VICA Contest to be held at Montgomery County J.V.S. Saturday.

Laurel Oaks was also well represented in other competition. The team of The team of Alan Hertlein and Roger Hiltbrand was victorious in the District 4 FFA Competition for Small Engine Repair held at Lynchburg-Clay High School on March 18. Hiltbrand is from Fayette County.

There were two other teams from Laurel Oaks in this competition, which were comprised of John Kirby and Greg Woodrow, and Bill Knapp and David Funk. Woodrow and Funk are both from Fayette County.

The Hertlein-Hiltbrand team will represent Laurel Oaks in State Competition on Saturday, April 3 at Eastland J.V.S. in Columbus.

Two injured in accident

A culvert located a third of a mile north of Ohio 41 on the Blessing Chapel Road, was the scene of a Thursday accident.

Donald R. Bennett, 28, of Jeffersonville, was headed north on the Blessing Chapel Road when he lost control of his car and struck a culvert at 4 p.m. Thursday. The car rolled over on its left side, incurring slight damage in the process. Though both Bennett and his passenger, Kris Simmerman, 27, of South Solon, showed signs of injury, neither were taken to the hospital.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies also reported a 3:23 p.m. Thursday accident in which a car slid into a ditch.

Jeffery N. Tuvell, 20, of 509 Damen Dr., reported that as he was travelling north on the Stuckey Road, a vehicle approached him proceeding left of center near U.S. 22. Tuvell moved off the right side of the road, then swerved to the left, skidded back across the roadway, struck a ditch and landed in an open field. There was moderate damage to Tuvell's car.

DIVORCE ACTIONS DISMISSED

The divorce action filed in Common Pleas Court by Beulah F. Curnutte, 620 1/2 N. North St., against Charles Curnutte has been dismissed at the request of the plaintiff.

The divorce action filed by Tanya D. Dilley, 2287 Bogus Rd., against John V. Dilley has been dismissed at the request of the plaintiff.

DISSOLUTION DISMISSED

The petition for dissolution filed in Common Pleas Court by Thomas and Brenda Montgomery, 114 Circle Ave., has been dismissed at the request of the parties.

DISSOLUTION GRANTED

Russell D. Lindsey, 8252 U.S. 62-S, and Georgianna Lindsey, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., have been granted a dissolution of marriage in accordance with their separation agreement.

CIVIL SUIT DISMISSED

A civil suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Ralph Whiteside, Rt. 2, McArthur, against Alan Partridge, Knox, Ind., has been settled by the parties and dismissed with prejudice to further action. The suit involved a two-truck collision near the U.S. 35-Interstate 71 intersection in Oct., 1974.

It incorrectly appeared in Thursday's edition that Thomas Rankin was the father of a juvenile court defendant. Rankin is, in fact, the assistant principal of Washington Senior High School and had filed the complaint against the girl.

Solar energy proves cheap to professor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University professor with a $200 solar energy system in his home to heat water says his system will pay for itself in two years.

Prof. Stanley A. Mumma of the Ohio State mechanical engineering department, who teaches a seminar in residential applications of sun power, said the portable water heating system in his Columbus home will save him $125 per year in electrical costs.

He described the system as "the simplest and most economically feasible application for our climate."

"Solar air conditioning is farther in the future. A great deal more engineering must go into its design before it is practical," said Mumma.

The professor said a device known as a heat pump is available as a backup system for solar devices during cloudy weather. Otherwise, conventional energy sources must be used.

"An electrical heat pump, which works like a refrigerator in reverse to extract heat from outside air, currently costs only 60 per cent as much to operate as electrical resistance heating in the Columbus area," said Mumma. He said the heat pump provides electrical heat almost as cheaply as heating systems using fuel oil.

Train crash said caused by fireman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three-train collision in northeastern Ohio last year that killed one man and injured seven others occurred because the fireman operating one of the trains was going faster than allowed by railroad rules, the National Transportation Safety Board said today.

The accident near Leetonia, Ohio last June 6 occurred when a 59-car west-bound freight train stopped on a curve. The train was struck from the rear by a 104-car freight train which was west-bound on the same track. Seconds after that accident, a 65-car eastbound freight slammed into the collision wreckage which had blocked an adjacent track.

REMODELING — The dance room in the soon-to-open Possum Holler Lounge, formerly the Lafayette Inn, has undergone some changes under the Zugg Brothers' new management. A band stage, to the right, has been created, and a little alcove, "Possum Den" has been constructed across from the stage. The new establishment is slated to open by late April.

Lafayette Inn becoming Possum Holler Lounge

Possum Holler Lounge, once known as the Lafayette Inn, CCC-Highway-W, has been undergoing remodeling and a format change. By the latter part of April, the establishment is scheduled to become "the hottest night spot around," according to one of its operators, Larry Zugg.

The Zugg Brothers Co., a local country-rock group, have leased the use of the building from Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Willis, who owned and operated the Lafayette Inn for 12 years before selling the business to Jack Marti in 1974. Marti filed for bankruptcy approximately eight months ago.

Zugg stresses that the new establishment will be a family operation, as his parents will be assisting in the management. The dance and restaurant areas, formerly partitioned, are now inclusive, and a nightclub type liquor license is currently being processed.

Featured music performances, slated for three nights a week, will have a country-rock flavor. The Zugg Brothers Band previously played at the Club 22 Lounge.

Steaks and chops are the primary fare on the menu, and the Possum Holler will be open for breakfast on the week-end.

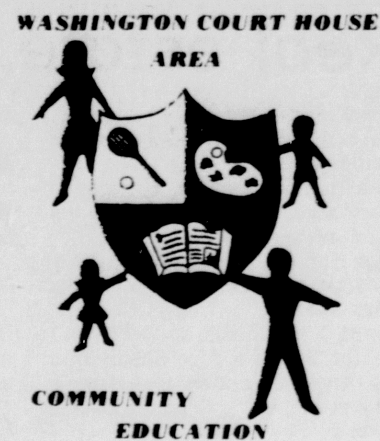

Community Education activities

By Hank Shaffer

Community Education will sponsor its third annual Kite Day Saturday afternoon at 2, at the Washington Senior High School. Members of the Business and Professional Women will judge the youngsters for the most colorful, highest flying, largest kite to get into the air, and the most unique.

Prizes have been donated by a number of area merchants and nearly all youngsters participating will win a prize. Those merchants donating include Moore's Dream House, MacDonald's, Super X, Murphy Mart, Buckeye Mart, K-Mart, Courtview Restaurant, Risch's, Wendy's, Great Scott, Hidy's, Seaway, and Stop-N-Go. There is no charge to enter.

On Tuesday, April 6th, the Cincinnati Bengals will come to Washington C.H. to play a benefit basketball game against the coaches and faculty from both Miami Trace and Washington C.H. The game will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Washington Senior High gym and the proceeds will go to the Community Education Drill Team and the Community Education program.

The Bengals that will be here include Bengal Captain Bob Johnson, Ken Johnson, Tommy Casanova, Lenvil Elliott, Rufus Mayes, Ron Carpenter and Al Beauchamp. They will be on hand during the halftime to sign autographs for those wanting them.

The local team will be comprised of Fred Zechman, Phil Bihl, Jeff Parker, Mike Henry, Charlie Andrews and Bill Sowash from Miami Trace; and Gary Shaffer, Richard Crooks, Dwight Garrett, Jon Creamer, Ken Hayes and Maurice Pfeifer from Washington C.H.

Tickets for the game will be $1.50 in advance and $2 at the gate that evening. Tickets are available at Lynch's Newsstand, Kirk's Auto Parts, Courtview Restaurant, Warner's Sport Shop, Patton's, Risch's Downtown Drugs, and French Hardware.

We hope that you will come out and support both the Kite Day and the Cincinnati Bengals basketball game.

Jasper PTO March meet

The Jasper P.T.O. held its March meeting at the school recently. The meeting was opened with President Sid Woodrow requesting a moment of silence in remembrance of the late Burke Kearney. Mr. Kearney was a former schoolteacher and principal of the school for many years.

On the calendar of events, a "working fun day" will be held at the school on April 24 for all P.T.O. members who are willing to give time and energy for the improvement of their school. Outside buildings are in a state of much needed repair. The school is needing necessary equipment without adequate means of storage at the present time.

It was voted to paint all playground equipment a patriotic red, white, and blue. Ed Ball and Neil Brady, Scout leaders, agreed that it would make a worthwhile project for their scout troops. Mr. Woodrow will submit a list of materials needed for the project to Steve Yambor assistant superintendent, for approval.

A motion for the purchase of 50 padded folding chairs was approved at a cost of $250 from F.O. Schoedinger of Columbus. If completely satisfied with the chairs more could be purchased after the storage problem is alleviated.

The school-community project of acquiring the Milledgeville church was reviewed. A bid along with the proposal was sent to church officials in Columbus and their reply is being awaited. It is anticipated that more information will be available at the next meeting.

A committee was appointed for the awards banquet which will be held at the school on April 24. The banquet will be potluck and the meat, rolls, and drinks will be furnished by the P.T.O. as in the past. All deserving students will be recognized as will teachers, room mothers, and P.T.O. officers.

Mrs. Penny Brady, head teacher, acknowledged three students who recently participated in the science fair and received commendable ratings. Those students were David Kile, Kim Bowermaster, and Erica Grove.

The next meeting will be held on May 20 with a bicentennial program being presented.

Riflemen's annual meet

The 105-year-old National Rifle Association, which is the largest sportmen's organization in the country with over 1,000,000 members, has scheduled its 1976 annual meeting and firearms exhibit for April 2-6 in Indianapolis, Ind. at the Convention-Exposition Center.

Authorities from such fields as conservation and hunting, wilderness survival and Olympic rifle competition will address daily sessions and the latest in sporting firearms, antique and collectible firearms, and other sporting accessories and equipment will be on display in the 260-booth in the center.

The exhibit hall will be open 1 to 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 10 p.m. daily during the show days and NRA members presenting membership identification and firearm, law enforcement officers and Armed Forces representatives in uniform will be admitted free of charge. The exhibits are open to the public.

Cloudiness will increase over most of Ohio today, with temperatures expected to range in the 60s.

Southerly winds are expected to increase as a storm area over the central plains moves toward the northern Great Lakes during the day.

Interchange of viruses

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one seems sure, but Agriculture Department scientists say pigs can probably catch the flu from humans as well as pass it on to them if everyone concerned is not careful.

Swine — that means hogs and pigs — have recently come in for notoriety with the identification of a deadly "swine flu strain" of virus, and the government announced plans Wednesday to vaccinate Americans against the disease.

The swine flu strain was blamed for 20 million deaths worldwide in a 1918 epidemic, including 500,000 Americans. The rare kind of flu, which now has cropped up again, reportedly was first identified or associated among swine and thus named after the barnyard animals.

Dr. J. M. Hejl, deputy administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said pigs catch colds and flu the same as humans and that those ailments probably can be passed back and forth between people and pigs.

License tag packets said faulty

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Agencies distributing license plates here say the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles has been supplying them with shipments of packets with not enough plates in them, too many plates in them and pairs of unmatched plates.

Five distributors now receiving plates with special-order reserve numbers say they have discovered more than 100 packets that can't be used.

One agency said it got 30 envelopes with one license plate inside, and about 10 envelopes containing unmatched plates.

Another agency said it found 18 sets of plates in the wrong envelopes, and even one packet containing three plates.

The Toledo Auto Club, sorting through 17,500 reserved number requests, said it has found 70 sets of plates with mixed numbers since it began doublechecking numbers on envelopes against their contents.

Curtis Andrews, motor vehicle registrar, said the errors were apparently undetected by quality control inspectors where the plates were made, the Lebanon Correctional Institution.

Director of industries at the institution, James Carter, said a high workload of 19 million plates and high turnover were causes of the problems. He said most of prison workers are first offenders and he estimated that 75 per cent of the workers have never held jobs outside the correctional unit.

Herion ring broken

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Operating from the safety of U.S. military bases in this country and Thailand, a syndicate led by Army and Air Force sergeants smuggled more than $300 million in pure heroin into this country on Air Force tanker planes, federal officials say.

The heroin was hidden in false bottoms attached to wooden tables and other furniture shipped from U Tapao Air Force Base in Thailand as military baggage or was concealed in black AWOL bags — the small hand luggage carried by returning GIs.

That was the account given Thursday by officials here and in Washington after federal indictments were returned in Raleigh against 14 persons, most of them present or former military men, on charges of conspiring to import heroin.

The three-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury was made public after 11 of the defendants were arrested in a series of coordinated raids by military police, federal agents and local police. Three of those indicted were already in jail, one in this country and two in Thailand.

The heroin arrived via Strategic Air Command planes at Mather and Travis air force bases in California, Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C., and Langley Air Force Base, Va., officials said, and was soon on its way to the streets of New York and other major cities.

At least 220 pounds of heroin came into this country that way between August 1974 and last October when the operation began to fall apart, officials of the Justice Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration said.

But the syndicate had been operating since 1968 from the American Star Bar on Pittbury Road in Bangkok, and officials refused to say how much heroin the ring might have shipped into this country during that time.

Peter N. Bensinger, federal drug enforcement administrator, said in Washington that the demise of the syndicate would "have a major crippling impact on importation of heroin into the United States."

One of those indicted in the heroin conspiracy was Leslie "Ike" Atkinson, 50, a retired Army master sergeant from Goldsboro, N.C., who is serving a 19-year sentence in the federal prison in Atlanta on a previous conviction for importing heroin from Thailand.

The indictment said Atkinson had continued to run the operation from his prison cell with the help of his daughter, Leslie Sharon Atkinson Arrington, 24, and her husband, Michael Otis Arrington, 24, of Raleigh, both of whom were also indicted.

Among the others indicted were James Smeddley, 54, described as the procurer of heroin, and Jasper Myrick Jr., 23, of Montgomery, Ala., an alleged courier. Both are now serving terms in Kalang Prison in Bangkok.

Also named in the indictments, for allegedly serving as packers, couriers or mailers of heroin to other defendants in the United States were Freddie Clay Thornton, 40, Detroit; Rudolph Valentino Jennings, 49, Goldsboro, N.C.; William King Wright, 30, Washington; William Thomas, 42, Goldsboro; Monroe Lorenzo Martin Jr., 43, Long Beach, Calif.; Robert Ernest Patterson, 34, Hampton, Va.; William Kelly Brown, 38, Augusta, Ga.; James McArthur, 40, Fayetteville, N.C.; and Charles Murphy Gillis, 40, Goldsboro.

'America's Sweetheart' gets Oscar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I've had a wonderful life," says Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart" of silent films who will be honored next week with a special Oscar. "I'm grateful that I remember all the good things; the rest has been forgotten."

Miss Pickford, Hollywood's first superstar, will formally receive the award at Monday's Oscar ceremonies "in recognition of her unique contributions to the film industry and the development of film as an artistic medium."

The special Oscar, in fact, was actually presented last week when she appeared before a camera at Pickfair, her legendary hilltop mansion. Walter Mirisch, president of the Motion Picture Academy, presented the award, and a film of that presentation will be shown Monday night.

There had been speculation that she might appear at the awards, but she said Buddy Rogers, her husband, "won't let me go — he thinks it will be too much for me."

She has rarely left Pickfair in the last decade because of failing health. In-person interviews have not been allowed, but she does talk on the telephone — sometimes waveringly, but with her usual sprightliness.

"I know I sound like a frog, but I just woke up," she explained Thursday in such an interview.

Miss Pickford, who will be 83 on April 8, won an Oscar for best actress in "Coquette" 48 years ago. On that occasion, she recalled, "I nearly died of pleasure and fear." Concerning the latest award: "I'm amazed. I didn't know that people remembered me."

Our thing is Paint

It seems like everybody is doing his thing these days. Which is okay if the "thing" is done right. If not . . . then there's a real "hang-up" of one kind or another.

Take paint, for example. This highly specialized product is being sold by clerks in some stores who don't know which paint to recommend for the many kinds of surfaces paint is made for. Or how much paint is needed. Or what kind of brush or roller to use.

We could go on and on. But the point is . . . our "thing" is paint. And we know paint better than we know ourselves. Better (we believe) than any retailer in town.

So let's do our "thing" together the next time you paint. It's the thing to do if you want the right paint in the right amount at the right price.

WHAT WAS IT UMP? — Miami Trace's Rex Coe looks back for the signal from the umpire in the third inning of Thursday's season-opening baseball game on the Panther's diamond. While the Panther batter waits for the decision, the Westfall catcher eyes Joe Black back to third base.

Panther rally killed in final frame

Trace drops season opener

A long fly ball by Miami Trace third baseman Ken Darling was snared by a Westfall outfielder Thursday ruining the Panthers hopes of beginning the baseball season on a winning note.

The Panthers trailed 4-3 going into the seventh and final inning, and they managed to put two runners aboard bringing up Darling with two outs. He connected with a pitch sending it deep to left center but it turned out to be a long out.

The Panthers, under new head coach Mike Henry, grabbed an early lead against visiting Westfall when Brant Dunn and Joe Black walked and pitcher Jack James rapped a two-out single scoring Dunn.

Gregg St. wins tourney

Rarely does a basketball team come out of the losers' bracket to beat the winners' bracket finalist two straight games and to win a tourney, but it happened Thursday night in the Community Education Church League tournament.

Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union topped undefeated Fayette Bible twice last night, 87-83 and 81-69 despite an impressive scoring show by Gary Shaffer.

Shaffer tossed in 79 points in the two games, but Gregg Street's team work was too much for Fayette Bible.

Wes Williams tossed in 21 points to lead the winners in one game and Larry

The 1-0 lead didn't hold up long however as Westfall came back with two runs in the fourth inning off James. The Panthers' opposition added two more runs in the fifth frame with a two-run single to leftfield. The RBI single by the Westfall leftfielder turned out to be the winning hit.

Miami Trace pulled to within a run in the sixth on a single by relief pitcher Stu Foster and a triple by Rex Coe. Coe scored minutes later on a sacrifice fly by Allan Conner.

That sixth inning rally would be the last runs the Panthers could manage as Jay Biddle went the distance to pick up the win for Westfall. James took the loss for Miami Trace.

Mowery scored 28 points to pace the winners in the other contest.

Cleveland Indians defeat Brewers, 8-7

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — With rookie Jim Ervin committing two of Milwaukee's five errors, the Cleveland Indians comfortably overcame the Brewers 8-7 in exhibition baseball Thursday.

The Indians got five runs in the ninth inning, and Ervin got the message.

"He asked me what a rookie has to do to make the big club," manager Alex Grammas said. "I don't spoof anybody. So in this case, I told him: 'Terry, you are just 20 years old, without too much experience. It is just impossible for you to make this ball club this spring.'"

Henry has several veterans back from last year's squad which turned in a 5-20 record Dave Pellior.

Both Foster and James saw limited action on the mound last season. James compiled a 1-4 mark while Foster was 0-3.

Conner, an all-league selection last year, Coe, Gary English, and Darling also saw action last year.

The Panthers will host Circleville Monday in their next outing as they open the SCOL season.

Bill Bowman quits as Lancaster coach

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Veteran Ohio prep basketball mentor Bill Bowman, who guided Lancaster High School to a 13-6 regular season, resigned Thursday.

"It's become more work than fun," said Bowman, who was The Associated Press' southeastern Class AAA Coach of the Year.

Ex-Western Mich. mentor

Eldon Miller named to OSU cage post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eldon Miller, the young, quiet man who turned Western Michigan's basketball program around, will be assigned the same task today by Ohio State.

The Big Ten Conference school, suffering through its worst season in history (6-20), will tap the 36-year-old Western Michigan mentor to replace the resigned Fred Taylor, Bill Hosket said Thursday night.

Hosket, one of the finalists to replace his old college coach, told a sports writer, "Miller has the job."

Ohio State called a 9 a.m. EST press conference to announce the successor to Taylor, the 51-year-old dean of Big Ten basketball coaches who just finished his 18th year with the Buckeyes.

Miller, when contacted in Philadelphia Thursday for the NCAA tournament this weekend, had no comment on whether he would be in that city or Columbus today.

However, the Kalamazoo, Mich., Gazette reported earlier this week that Miller was in Columbus Wednesday.

Joe Hoy, the Western Michigan athletic director, confirmed that Miller was one of the three finalists for the Ohio State post. Hoy said Ed Weaver, OSU's athletic director, told him so Monday.

The other finalists were believed to be Don DeVoe, recently let out as Virginia Tech's mentor, and Hosket, who has no coaching experience, but was an Ohio State

All-American and played briefly in the National Basketball Association.

Also considered heavily were Bob Knight of top-ranked Indiana, Darrell Hedrick of Miami (Ohio) and two NBA assistant coaches, former Ohio State players Larry Siegfried and Joe Roberts.

The 5-foot-11 Miller was once a star for Tennessee Coach Ray Mears when Mears guided Wittenberg to small college prominence. Miller, a native of Gnadenhutten, Ohio, was the Most Valuable Player on Wittenberg's 1961 national championship squad.

At age 23, Miller inherited the Wittenberg job when Mears left and guided Wittenberg to the national finals and a 26-2 record. He averaged 18 victories a season with the Tigers and all eight of his teams were ranked in the nation's Top Twenty.

Western Michigan struggled through seven straight losing seasons before Miller took over in 1971. Since then, he has had only one losing campaign, 8-18 his second year.

Miller hit the jackpot this winter. The Broncos won their first sole Mid-American crown with a record 15 league victories and were 24-2, another mark for MAC squads. He was also named the league's Coach of the Year.

Ironically, Miller's Broncos edged DeVoe's VPI team in overtime in a first-round NCAA tournament game. Western Michigan then dropped a five-point decision to No. 2-rated Marquette in its next tourney start.

Dodger hurlers shut out Phils

Sutton, Bryant lead L.A.

By The Associated Press

Right-hander Don Sutton, gearing up for opening day, and left-hander Ron Bryant, hoping to win a spot on the roster, are both off to impressive starts for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The two made their spring training debuts Thursday afternoon by combining for a 7-0 shutout of the Philadelphia Phillies. Sutton, flashing midseason form, fired six innings of two-hit ball, struck out three batters and walked none.

"I wanted to go as long as I could," said Sutton, who has already been named the club's opening-day pitcher for the fifth straight year. "I pitched five innings the other day in an intrasquad game and felt like I could go even farther."

"I felt the same today," Bryant, trying to hook on with the Dodgers as a free agent, worked the final three innings, gave up two hits and struck out four.

"I have to be encouraged after what I did today," said Bryant. "I felt really good out there."

Bryant won 24 games for San Francisco in 1973, but when downhill after that. He injured his back in a swimming pool accident and managed only a 3-15 mark with the Giants in 1974. He was dealt to St. Louis last season, lost his only decision and then went into temporary retirement.

A good showing by Bryant would help the Dodgers ease the probable loss of Andy Messersmith, who has played out his option and is currently trying to sell his services to the highest bidder.

Dave Lopes and Ivan DeJesus provided the offense in Thursday's game. Lopes homered and doubled to drive in three runs and DeJesus also hit a home run.

Elsewhere, Kansas City's Al Fitzmorris surrendered just two infield hits over five innings as the Royals trimmed the Chicago White Sox 2-0; Lefty Pete Falcone struck out seven batters in three innings to help the St. Louis Cardinals edge the New York Mets 1-0.

A two-run homer by John Ellis broke a seventh-inning tie and led the Texas Rangers to a 10-8 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles; Pittsburgh's Al Oliver made a game-saving catch with the bases loaded and added a two-run double as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Detroit Tigers 4-2.

Jose Morales pinch-hit a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning to give the Montreal Expos a 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros; Shortstop Eddie Brinkman's double error on Tom Paciorek's sacrifice bunt in the 10th inning permitted the winning run to score in the Atlanta Braves' 2-1 win over the New York Yankees. The Braves won again in a night game with Cincinnati, edging the Reds 7-6 in 11 innings on Clarence Gaston's run-scoring single.

New acquisitions Ed Herrmann and Bill Melton combined to drive in three runs and lead the California Angels past the Oakland A's 4-1; A three-run homer by Dwight Evans and a two-run shot by John Balaz powered the Boston Red Sox past the Minnesota Twins 7-2.

Gullett certain pact will be inked

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds lefty Don Gullett, who may be on the threshold of his first 20-victory season, heads toward the 1976 season without a contract.

"I'm here to play baseball," said Gullett. "I'm sure things will work out."

Gullett, whose 80 victories at age 25 are more than the combined total amassed by Sandy Koufax, Whitey Ford and Warren Spahn at the same age, is seeking a multiyear $100,000-a-year contract. He would be the first Cincinnati pitcher to command the salary.

Though negotiations are still continuing, Gullett has had his contract renewed by the Reds under the provision which calls for a 20 per cent pay cut from his 1975 salary.

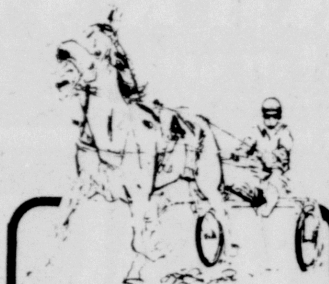

He is one of four Reds currently unsigned. The others are Tony Perez, Dave Concepcion and pitcher Will McEnaney.

Gullett is certain a bad break cost him a chance at entering the 20 victory circle last year. Despite missing two months of the season with a broken thumb, the young southpaw finished 15-4 with a career low earned run average of 2.42.

His potential may be reaching full flower. Last October, during the World Series, Reds Manager Sparky Anderson tagged Gullett a surefire Hall of Fame entry.

"It was a compliment," said Gullett, "but I'm not concerned about the Hall of Fame. Sure, you hear statements like that and it gets you thinking a bit. But I'm only 25 and this is just my seventh year in professional baseball."

Panther wrestlers honored at annual awards banquet

Miami Trace High School honored its 1975-76 wrestling team Thursday night at the annual awards banquet.

Three Panther grapplers, senior co-captains Jay Crummy and Kurt Klontz along with sophomore Scott Martin, received special trophies for their performances on the mats this year. Crummy, who despite illness posted a very impressive 14-2 season record, was voted the team's most valuable wrestler by team members for the second consecutive year. He also received a share of the annual pin trophy given to the wrestler with the highest number of pins for the season. Both Crummy and Klontz registered seven pins apiece to share the award.

Crummy's pin total was half of his win total which means every other time the Panther senior took the mat the match ended before the allotted six-minute time limit had expired.

Sophomores Randy Slutz and John Burr also had high pin totals. Slutz registered five and Burr in his first year had six pins.

Martin took the most improved wrestler award by registering a 20-7 record—the most wins on the team—compared to last year's 6-8 mark.

Crummy and Klontz also received senior award trophies along with South Central Ohio League champion Kirk Stuckey, Jeff Creamer and Herb Smith. Martin, Burr and Slutz received varsity letters along with the seniors and eight other Panthers: Rick Ward, Mike Dunton, Bruce Fennig, Chris Garland, Jim Stuckey, Dave Hennessy, Shawn Riley and Chris Schlichter. Manager Ron Woodrow also received a letter.

Reserve coach Roger Dunton presented 11 reserve awards. They went to Doug Merritt, Marc Miramontez, Don McKeever, Mike Dennis, Todd Anderson, Joe Garland, Mike Camstra, Randy Hinkley, Eric Crabtree, Randy Sams and Mike Hill.

The past season was termed "successful" by coach Glenn Jacobson as this team set a school record by qualifying the most (four) wrestlers for district competition. The efforts of the past season also added four names to the list of Panther SCOL champions as Martin, Klontz, Kirk Stuckey and Jay Crummy accomplished the feat.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures
Did you know there's a wealth of free entertainment and instruction available for groups who need interesting programs to enliven meetings?

If you're a camera club program chairman, a scout leader, a member or official of a church, school or civil organization, then it could concern you.

Films and slide shows about photography, travel, sports, the environment and flowers could provide a welcome interlude in any group's regular or special meeting.

The programs are loaned to each group by prior reservation and must be returned promptly after showing. One condition is that they be shown to members or an audience without charge for admission. The material in the programs is copyrighted and may not be duplicated, published or used commercially in any way.

What we're talking about is "Your Programs from Kodak - 1976," a new catalog listing about 50 films and slide shows from which selections can be made. Each item in the listing describes the subject matter, type of show and running time. For a copy of the catalog, write to: Eastman Kodak Co., Photo Information Dept. 841, Rochester, N.Y. 14650. Ask for program catalog AT-1.

JOIN THE PARADE! Groups can make meetings more interesting this bicentennial year by requesting the free loan of movie and slide programs, with a choice of more than 50 informative, inspirational or entertaining shows.

The movies are either 16mm color optical-sound films or super 8mm color magnetic-sound films. The slide show packages contain 2 x 2 inch slides, a script and a tape recording of the script.

Your group must have for the movie programs a 16mm optical-sound projector or a super 8 magnetic-sound projector set for 24 frames per second. For the slide programs, you need a projector for 2 x 2-inch slides and a cassette tape player or a tape recorder capable of playing at 3 3/4 or 7 1/2 inches per second. An automatic Carousel slide projector is recommended.

It's also a good idea to have a spare projection lamp handy for the slide and movie projector and a spare exciter lamp for the optical-sound movie projector. Lamps do burn out without warning and the spare lamps enable the show to continue with only a small delay.

The best position for a projector is on a sturdy stand high enough to project over the heads of the audience. This eliminates the need for a middle aisle and provides more seats in the best viewing area - the center.

A 5-foot-wide screen is generally adequate for an audience of between 50 to 60 people. A larger audience and larger room require a larger screen. For more detailed information on screen requirements, write to Department 841, same address, for pamphlet S-3 on "Audiovisual Projection."

The catalog includes a request order form which must be filled in and mailed to Kodak's Audio-Visual Library Distribution Department for filling. The order request is acknowledged. At least 4 weeks' notice is normally required before a meeting and this may stretch to between 8 and 12 weeks during the busy fall and winter months. Programs are sent to arrive two days before the scheduled meeting date.

The programs are sent in a special container with labels and other packaging materials enclosed. Movie reels should be rewound onto their original reels after a show. If two or more programs are ordered, care must be taken to pack each show in its proper container. There's a return shipping label which facilitates the handling of sending back programs. And it's the group's responsibility to pay the return postage including insurance in the amount of $50 value.

It's almost worthwhile to start a camera club to receive such informative and entertaining programs.

House votes plan of self-insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House voted 89-0 Thursday to authorize the state to self insure its motor vehicles, aircraft and watercraft against liability claims.

But the state Department of Transportation grounded its 8,000 vehicles Thursday rather than operate under the plan. The department is looking for a new insurer to handle its expired liability policy.

"The bill will permit the state to cover its own employees during the time they are actually working for the State of Ohio," said sponsor William Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia.

The bill was sent to the Senate where Hinig predicted prompt action.

The Tuscarawas County lawmaker described the legislation as a "stopgap measure that will remain in effect only through July 1, 1977."

In the meantime, he said, the legislature would approve a more comprehensive bill.

Under the bill being considered, each state agency would set aside a reserve fund equal to premium payments under old insurance policies to pay any claims resulting from mishaps involving state vehicles.

A recent opinion by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown said the state could not legally insure itself. The bill would change that, authorizing in law state self insurance.

About 14,000 state vehicles used to be covered by a liability policy, but when the policy expired Jan. 1, officials found renewal costs too high. About 6,000 vehicles, including aircraft and boats, were not covered by the policy which expired.

Highway Patrol vehicles were placed under an emergency liability policy when the old policy expired.

The transportation department is seeking a similar arrangement, since workers expressed concern over possible lapses in coverage under the self insurance plan.

The emergency plan was expected to be obtained sometime today, according to Transportation Director Richard Jackson.

While the department is waiting for that policy to be signed, Jackson ordered his department's vehicles grounded except for emergency travel.

Decorating Depot opens

Ambassadors from the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce took part in a ribbon cutting ceremony this morning to designate the official opening of John E. Dunn's Decorating

Depot located at 201 S. Main St., in the old railroad depot.

"We are a high quality store, and we will give our customer's good service," Dunn stated. Prior to the opening of his own business, Dunn worked in the home furnishings department at Steen's for nine years. He felt that there was a definite need for this type of shop in Washington C.H.

Dunn's Decorating Depot, which will be open 9:30-5 Monday Through Thursday and on Saturdays and 9:30-8:30 on Fridays, is a carpet and decorating store.

Dunn, who is a life-long resident of Washington C.H., and his wife, Carol, will operate the business. The couple lives at 267 Carolyn Rd., and have two children.

Bicentennial meeting held

The Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee resulted in group agreement on a fundamental problem.

The group, composed of representatives from various business and civic organizations came to the conclusion that more public input is needed to make the county celebrations a success.

The committee has been meeting regularly for several months at 4:30 p.m. every Tuesday in the Area Chamber of Commerce office. Meetings are opened to everyone who may have useful ideas for upcoming bicentennial activities.

At present, the committee is working on several projects for bicentennial celebrations.

Relocation of the Eyman log house and the movement of Civil War memorial plaques to the courthouse were the chief projects discussed during Tuesday's meeting. Both projects are reportedly moving along well. Ora Burdge, activities chairman, stated that the plaque relocation may be completed by Memorial Day.

Helen Slavens, representing Altrusa, announced that a tour of historical sites in Fayette County is being organized by the group. Though the project is still in the planning stages, it "promises to be both interesting and informative."

In regard to the potential success of the committee's endeavors, publicity chairman Bill Pool stated, "We need the ideas and resources of many more people if we hope to realize the kind of bicentennial celebration all the residents of Fayette County deserve."

Rubbish fire

The Washington C.H. Fire Department doused a 5:56 p.m. rubbish fire located at 721 Campbell Street.

C.H. Detty, 24 E. Sixth St., was in the process of burning insulation off rolls of wiring when the fire was reported.

Woman doesn't want to see what she saw

An indecent exposure report was checked by Washington C.H. police officers.

Darlene Leisure, 1104 E. Paint St., reported that as she and her son were in their rear yard Thursday afternoon, a male subject, who was reportedly identified, exposed himself to their view. Charges are expected to be filed in the case.

Sarah A. Wright, 10, of 634 Albin Ave., was in the process of hugging a sleeping dog situated in front of 936 Millwood Ave. The dog awoke, apparently startled, and bit the girl on the cheek and area of right eye.

She was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital at 6 p.m. treated with a tetanus shot, and released.

A 15-year-old Washington C.H. girl

was taken to the hospital Thursday after reportedly taking too many perscription pills. She was treated and released.
